RUSSIAN ARMY FALLING BACK BEFORE OYAMA

Report to That Effect is Being Circulated in St. Petersburg.

ADVANCE OF JAPANESE SEEMS TO HAVE CEASED

Linevitch Said to be Retreating in Order to Avoid Being Flanked and Pocketed by the Armies of Oyama.

St. Petersburg, June 23.—2:10 a. m.—News from the battle field is exceedingly meager. A press telegram of Tuesday speaks of a "rear guard action," and there are rumors in the city that the Russian army is retreating; but the latest dispatches received from Lieutenant General Linevitch bearing the same date, two spared briefly that the Japanese advance had paused. A dispatch from the Yanshu Pass of Wednesday's date says to-day the operations of the Japanese apparently ended after the last fight, and they appeared to be merely clearing their immediate front.

It is probable that the Russian advanced lines are crossing the railroad, and will continue their retiring more or less hurriedly in order to avoid being flanked and pocketed until the positions at Sipinghai are reached. The main forces seemingly are not yet in collision.

Colonel Lodygenski, one of the correspondents of the Associated Press, died at Harbin of blood poisoning.

NO REASON FOR DELAY IN BEGINNING THE BATTLE

Gunshu Pass, Manchuria, June 21.—(Delayed in transmission)—The operations of the Japanese during the five days, which at first were thought to be portentous, apparently ended after the last fight. The Japanese appear to be merely clearing their immediate front.

There is now no reason for any further delay in beginning the great battle, as the opposing armies are essentially equal. The Russian troops are under the impression that an advance is about to begin.

Correspondents are not allowed to refer to the sentiments of the army concerning the peace propositions. The heads of the various armies have adopted a bellicose attitude, especially since the opening of peace negotiations were reported here.

ANOTHER GREAT BATTLE WANTED BY GREAT BRITAIN

Washington, June 22.—No assistance is expected in Washington from the London government in whatever efforts the president may initiate to bring about an immediate armistice or to prevent a clash before the convening of the Washington conference. While the London government, as an ally of Japan, has shown itself in hearty sympathy with the president's policy, to bring the belligerents together feels that it cannot undertake to suggest an armistice at this time. The British officials believe, according to advices reaching this government that Japan would be sacrificing a great deal to consent to an armistice at this time and that after a great defeat on land the Russians will be more ready to discuss peace. This, however, is but an honest difference of opinion between Washington and London. Officially the belief here is that another defeat may inspire the Russians to continue the war indefinitely. It is understood, however, that London will do nothing to hamper the president's efforts, having expressed its sympathy with its general purpose.

Secretary Hay has a number of cablegrams from Tokio and St. Petersburg, which he will take to the white house tomorrow and a conference on the general situation and the outlook for an armistice will follow. In the absence of the president, Secretary Hay has been in charge of the negotiations, but all information on the subject has been withheld at the state department.

Despite their strong belief that it would greatly further the cause of peace if the belligerents would avoid a clash between their armies pending the Washington conference, the President and Secretary Hay are aware of the wish of the Japanese that before assenting to an armistice she receive more definite assurances regarding Russia's intentions.

Mr. Takahira, the Japanese minister, is expected to return to Washington tomorrow, and Sir Mortimer Durand, the British ambassador, will be in Washington at the end of the week.

JUNIOR ORDER HAS ADJOURNED

American Mechanics Meet Next in Boston in 1907.

Nashville, June 22.—The National council, Junior Order of American Mechanics, which had been in session here since Tuesday morning, completed its work this afternoon and adjourned to meet in Boston in June 1907. At this morning's session a new state council ritual was adopted. An amendment was adopted to the funedal benefit laws permitting all who hold individual certificates in other organizations to unite with class B, of this order on or before October 1, 1905, even though they have passed the age limit. A resolution was adopted providing for the appointment of a commission on ritual to prepare a long and short form of the three degrees ritual of the order and report at the next session.

The officers elected yesterday were installed by John Calver, of Philadelphia, the oldest living past national councilor of the order.

HOW TOGO CAME HOME AFTER GREAT VICTORY

TRANSPARENT SCHEME TO AVOID THE LAWS

Judge Speer Yesterday So Characterized the Southeastern Freight Association.

ARGUMENT HAS CLOSED IN THE SAWMILL CASE

Expression from the Court Came as a Surprise to the Counsel for the Saw Mill Men and of the Railroads.

Constitution Bureau, 467 Second Street, Macon Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—Argument closed today at noon in the suit of the Georgia Sawmill Association against several southern railroads arising out of an effort to put an extra 2-cent rate to the west on lumber from Georgia and Florida mills. A severe arraignment of the Southeastern Freight Association at the hands of the court was the last and most interesting feature of this case.

Attorney W. A. Wimbish, for H. H. Tift and others, and Judge Ed Baxter, for the railroads, had crossed frequently in the rebuttal made by the former in closing the case. Judge Baxter was attempting to get Attorney Wimbish's ideas as to the value of the Southeastern Freight Association in the matter of fixing rates on the products of the mills. The attorney had replied that he did not care to state in the court what he thought, but would tell Judge Baxter privately.

When the two attorneys closed both were surprised at an expression coming from Judge Speer condemning the association as "a transparent scheme to avoid the effect of the laws forbidding pooling and combinations in restraint of trade."

Judge Speer's Words.

His words were:

"Counsel on both sides have doubtless gathered from the intimations of the court, what we may as well announce at this time, that the Southeastern Freight Association is in view of the evidence regarded as a transparent scheme to avoid the effect of the laws forbidding pooling and combinations in restraint of trade. While this is true, whether or not the rates involved in this case and put in force as the result of the action of that association are unreasonable and violative of law, must be determined after further consideration.

Judge Speer then stated that the case would be taken under advisement together with all the argument and testimony which has been offered, and said a decision would be reached as soon as possible.

During the morning, Attorney Wimbish was the speaker for the Sawmill Association. This argument came as a rebuttal of that for the railroads yesterday. Attorney Ellis also presented several affidavits in rebuttal of the testimony introduced at the outset by the railroads, in their attempt to show that a very prosperous business was being carried on by the yellow pine producers in the territory in question. This prosperity was denied by the mill men.

No President of Mercer.

Macon, Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—On account of failure to get a response from an inquiry as to whether Professor W. L. Poteat, of Wake Forrest College, would accept the presidency of Mercer University, if elected, no head of the institution was selected tonight, and a meeting of the board will be held tomorrow morning for the purpose of further discussing the matter.

The name of Professor Poteat is the only one before the board, and it is now positively known that he will be the unanimous choice. If he can be induced to take the place, he will be formally elected at tomorrow's session of the board. The meeting tonight is well attended.

Southern Power Co. Incorporated.

Trenton, N. J., June 22.—The Southern Power Company was incorporated here today with an authorized capital of $7,500,000, of which $2,500,000 is preferred stock bearing 7 per cent cumulative dividend, and $5,000,000 is common stock. The company is to furnish power for light and heat. The incorporators are R. B. Arrington, E. B. Sperry and W. B. Joyner, all of Jersey City.

COTTON JUMPS $1.50 PER BALE

New High Point for the Current Year is Reached.

Advance Was Attributed To Strength in Liverpool Bull Leaders Issue Circular Predicting Crop of 9,500,000 Bales.

New York, June 22.—The cotton market was active and excited today, with prices advancing about $1.50 a bale and reaching a new high point for the current year on aggressive buying by leading bulls and covering by shorts. The advance was attributed to strength in Liverpool, further reports of a good trade demand and firm stock market and a circular which had been issued by the bull leaders predicting a crop of only about 9,500,000 for the coming season.

The closing was steady at practically the best prices or a net advance of 29@33 points.

BACK TO CAPITAL GOES ROOSEVELT

Zigzag Journey of President in Massachusetts Ends.

During His Stay of 32 Hours He Attended Three College Commencements and Received Two Honorary Degrees.

Williamstown, Mass, June 22.—The zigzag journey of President Roosevelt among the colleges of western Massachusetts ended today with his departure from Williamson after he had received from Williams college the honorary degree of L.H.D. His stay in this state which was of scarcely thirty-two hours duration was a busy one. He attended three college commencements, at two of which he received high honorary degrees, traveled several hundred miles, and besides delivering significant addresses at each commencement, made a number of speeches from the platform of his car to citizens who had gathered at the stations along the route.

The president rose early today. After breakfast the president devoted o few minutes to meeting the class mates of Federal Commissioner J. R. Garfield, who is a trustee of Williams and then made a quick inspection of the new memorial chapel dedicated yesterday.

After a short talk the president accepted the invitation of his host to a drive, which ended just before the commencement exercises began. He spoke twice here, once upon receiving the degree and again from the steps of the church where the commencement exercises were held to the people who could not get into the auditorium.

Then came luncheon and before 2 o'clock the president was on his way back to Washington. His train made stops at North Adams, Adams and Pittsfield, when the citizens joined in demonstrations and were addressed briefly by Mr. Roosevelt.

During the trip there was not an unpleasant incident. Yesterday's rain was disagreeable, but today, though the skies were cloudy, no rain fell until after the train bearing the president had started off.

The president's train is due in Washington early tomorrow. He will return to New England next week to attend commencement at Harvard university.

HIGHER TARIFF FOR MEXICO

Attempt Will be Made to Protect Home Industries.

Mexico City, June 22.—Important modifications in customs tariffs have been decreed by the executive with the view of protecting home industries. Higher duties are placed on steel rails, structural iron and steel, iron and steel wire, copper, brass or bronze wire, plows and farming implements, furniture, many lines of foreign food products, including butter, cheese, tea, macaroni, American tobacco, unrefined and refined petroleum, raw cotton, etc. In some cases duties are reduced as a tariff results in a prohibition of exports.

ONE DEAD MAN ON PAY ROLLS OF EQUITABLE

Lambert Died Long Ago, But Society Has Been Paying His Salary, $25,000 a Year.

OTHERS HAVE RESIGNED BUT SALARIES GO ON

District Attorney Jerome Proposes to Act on Report of Hendricks. Hendricks Not Done Yet. More Directors Are to Resign.

New York, June 23.—Attention was directed today to the fact that four of the Equitable officers mentioned in the report of State Superintendent of Insurance Hendricks as drawing salaries for the last five years are no longer actively connected with the company. E. W. Lambert appears in the report as medical director with a salary of $25,000 a year. He died thirteen months ago, and yet, according to the table, his salary was paid this year and last. Edward Curtis, who figures as a medical director, at $15,000 a year, resigned that position eighteen months ago. George H. Squire, who is now a director of the company, is down on the list as financial manager at $12,000 a year, although H. R. Winthrop succeeded Mr. Squire as financial manager many months ago. J. B. Loring is recorded as a registrar, with a salary of $3,500 a year. Mr. Loring ceased to perform the active duties of the registrarship in April, 1903. Officers of the society today said that possibly Mr. Hendricks had gotton hold of an old list.

District Attorney Jerome, of New York county, has entered into an investigation of the Equitable Life Assurance Society trouble and today telegraphed to State Superintendent of Insurance Hendricks asking him to forward at once official copies of his report.

District Attorney Jerome today received a telegram from Superintendent Hendricks, stating that an official copy of his report on the Equitable society had been forwarded as requested, and should reach New York tomorrow.

Guilty Men to be Prosecuted.

Attorney General Julius M. Mayer arrived here from Weshington tonight, and will remain in town several days investigating Equitable affairs. In an interview tonight Mr. Mayer said:

"It is manifest that the people throughout the whole country are profoundly interested in the affairs of the Equitable Life Assurance Society. Therefore I think it fitting to say that appropriate steps will speedily be taken by me:

"First. To accomplish the return to the Equitable of any profits wrongfully made or retained by reason of trust relations, or otherwise.

"Second. To debar from holding office in this company any person who has been faithless to his trust or what has violated any provisions of law.

"Third. To obtain an accounting for any waste of misapplication of funds for any reason, or by anybody.

"There are certain other matters of importance which I am studying, but to which it would be premature to refer in detail. It might be, for instance, to the interest of the policy holders to learn the character of and the occasion for some of the legal services paid for during the past few years. But, above all inquiries as to alleged delinquencies, the greatest necessity of the situation is that the rights of the policy holders in all respects be ascertained clearly, and as completely and as quickly as is legally possible. In this and in other particulars I shall try my best to obtain results.

"If any crime has been committed by anybody, that situation is manifestly for the district attorney.

Higgins Will Back Jerome.

Albany, N. Y., June 23—Governor Higgins has notied district attorney Jerome that he could rely upon executive cooperation in any action he might take as the result of Superintendent Hendircks's preliminary report on the affairs of the Equitable Life Assurance society. In discussing the report today the governor said:

"I have not sufficiently examined and no man could determine in one reading, just what future action is desirable. We at the present time have many laws that it would seem from a casual examination been violated, some very old, older than our own. 'Thou Shalt Not Steal' for instance. I have sent a communication to District Attorney Jerome enclosing a copy of the report and stating that if there was sufficient evidence to prove the guilt of any one connected with the company I would be pleased to cooperate giving any assistance I might be able.

"Honestly and a fair [illegible]," continued the governor, 'are the things most needed in insurance matters. Mutualization may improve conditions in the Equitable, but it cannot correct them altogether. I think that the investments of life insurance companies should be standardized."

Hendricks Still Using Probe.

Syracuse, N. Y., June 22—Further interesting and startling developments may be expected before Superintendent Hendircks gets through with the Equitable Life Assurance society. The report just submitted by Mr. Hendricks is only a preliminary one, which does not contain any matter relating to the management that are under investigation but are unfinished. These lines of investigation may produce, it is understood as interesting exhibits as those to which investigation has been completed sufficiently to be in-

FRIEND HELPS TO FIX CRIME ON MITCHELL

On 70th Birthday Oregon Senator Stands in the Prison Dock.

WITH FACE BLANCHED HE HEARS THE EVIDENCE

Face of Judge Tanner, Mitchell's Life-Long Friend and Partner, Also Blanched as He Gave Evidence Against the Senator.

Portland, Oreg., June 22.—On the day that marked the seventieth milestone of his journey through life, his face blanched until the blue veins stood out across his temples, John H. Mitchell, senior United States senator from Oregon, today listened to the testimony of Judge Tanner, his lifelong friend and law partner.

Judge Tanner was not less white or less agitated, and thoroughout his testimony his words came hesitatingly and falteringly, and so low that the ticking of the court room clock was audible throughout the hour or more that it took to give his testimony. When court adjourned for the day, Judge Tanner was still on the stand.

District Attorney Heney questioned Judge Tanner as to his trip to meet Senator Mitchell in December, last, when Mitchell was returning to Portland a short time prior to his first indictment.

Mitchell Was Anxious.

Judge Tanner told of having received a telegram from the senator asking him to come as far as Kalamaz, Washn., to meet him. The judge had taken the trip and had met the senator on the train with Binger Hermann and Frank C. Baker, chairman of the republican state central committee. The senator, he said, was very eager for land fraud news, and asked if there was any danger of the government agents having had access to the books of the firm. Mr. Mitchell expressed, said the witness, deep concern about the entries and transactions the firm had had with Kribs and wanted to see the books.

The following day, Judge Tanner testified, the senator went to the office and in company with him (Tanner) looked over the books, page by page. According to the testimony of the judge, Mitchell expressed surprise at the way the entries had been made and demanded that the old books be destroyed, saying the entries in regard to the Kribs' transactions would not only injure, but would convict him if they fell into the hands of the government.

Agreed to Destroy Books.

Judge Tanner testified that he had told the senator that though he had done such a thing, he would stand by his partner and do what he could to help him. He had agreed to destroy the books if necessary and had called the senator's attention to the clause of the partnership by which the senator was to receive all the fees for work done before the departments. He had changed them and the new agreements had been dated back to March 1, 1901, the same as the original and had been signed by both. The subsequent letters passing between the two men were also entered in as evidence tending to show still further the knowledge of the defendant that he had been violating the law.

At Augusta, Ga., July 7, James L. Quimby, against Clyde Steamship Com- S. C., and Augusta, Ga., to New York pany, involving alleged unreasonable freight rates to New York, Philadelphia, Aiken, Graniteville, Langley and Blackville, S. C.

At Atlanta, July 10, Reliance Textile and Dye Works against Southern Railway Company, involving alleged unreasonable rates on cotton piece goods from points in Georgia, Alabama and South Carolina to Cincinnati, Ohio, on shipments destined only to Cincinnati.

Disaster to 20th Century Limited One of Worst in Railroad History.

MANY OF THE VICTIMS BURNED IN WRECKAGE

Train Running 60 Miles an Hour When It Plunged Into Open Switch and Was Destroyed — Officials Attribute It To Malice.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 22.—It is possible that investigation tomorrow will develop that a boy 14 years old meddled with the switch at the Mentor switch last night and caused the wreck of the Twentieth Century flyer. William Usher, ticket agent of the Nickel Plate, and James Barnes, of Willoughby were on the scene of the wreck twenty minutes after the wreck happened. On the way they met a boy carrying a lantern. They questioned him, and he said that he had been down to shut a switch. They questioned him further, thinking it possible that the boy had tampered with the switch, but the boy insisted that he had shut the switch. The men went to the scene of the wreck and found the switch open, but locked. The men are of the opinion that the boy thought that there was a freight ahead of the Twentieth Century, and opened the switch to let it through to take a siding.

H. S. Storrs, general superintendent of the Lake Shore, said that the matter will be investigated tomorrow, although he is inclined to doubt the story that a boy had possession of a key and could turn the switch.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 22.—The list of fatal injuries in last night's wreck of the Twentieth Century flyer on the Lake Shore, at Mentor, Ohio, is one of the largest in the history of that road, numbering 19 persons. All of the victims were prominent in the business and professional world, in New York, Chicago, Cleveland and other cities.

The official list of the dead and injured as compiled by the officials of the Lake Shore company is as follows:

The Dead.

JOHN R. BENNETT, attorney, 31 Nassau street, New York city.

JOHN A. BRADLEY, Waron, Ohio.

T. R. MORGAN, second vice president

C. H. WELLMAN, of the Wellman-Seavers-Morgan company, Cleveland.

A. L. ROGERS, of New York city, died in hospital.

S. C. BECKWITH, 115 One Hundred and Seventy-fourth street, New York.

A. H. HEAD, London, England, representative of the Otis Steel Company, of Cleveland, died in hospital.

H. H. WRIGHT, traveling man, Chicago, died in hospital.

D. ARTHUR, traveling man, Milwaukee, died in hospital.

J. H. GIBSON, Chicago, traveling man, died in hospital, Cleveland.

H. C. MECHLING, New York.

L. M. EIRICK, manager Keith's theater, Cleveland; killed in wreck.

E. E. NAUGLE, Chicago, proprietor of a railway supply house; killed in wreck.

TWO UNIDENTIFIED, supposed to be J. A. Johnson, of the millinery firm of Comey & Johnson, Cleveland, and Henry Trinz, the barber on the train.

ALLAN TYLER, engineer, Collinwood, Ohio, died in hospital.

F. J. BRANT, head brakeman, Erie, Pa., died in hospital.

N. B. WALTERS, baggageman, Hamburg, N. Y., died in hospital.

W. D. MICKEY, porter on Pullman car, died at scene of wreck.

Injured Passengers.

J. H. Langdon, Chicago; H. C. Cordenaugh, Highlands, N. J.; M. J. Kennedy, San Francisco; Kate Trott, Chicago; Mrs. H. D. Turner, nervous shock; Theodore Keuhl, Chicago, severe shock; W. H. Colvin, Chicago, not seriously; George Murray, St. Louis, not seriously; ... Dickson, Chicago, knee wrenched; Natnan Allen, Kenosha, Wis., back slightly injured; S. T. Katy, Chicago, slightly injured; A. P. Gorman, fireman, side injured, Collinwood, Ohio.

As to who is responsible for the open switch which was the cause of the wreck the railroad officials are still uncertain. They believe that the wreck is the result of either a maniac, who wanted to see the wreck of such a fast train, or some person bent on revenge. A careful examination of the switch today showed that it was in perfect condition.

Detectives on the Case.

Detectives are working on the case. Trainmen are of the opinion that the crew of the Twentieth Century was deceived by a second white light 100 feet beyond the switch which was open, but while traveling at such fast speed were unable to gauge the distance, and mistook the second light for the first one.

W. H. Marshall, general manager of the Lake Shore, believes the speed of the train was not a contributary cause to the wreck. He said that other Lake Shore trains traveled through Mentor at a speed equal to that attained by the Twentieth Century last night, which was not, Mr. Marshall said, above the rate of 60 miles an hour. The schedule for the train called for a speed of 57 miles an hour at that point.

The scenes following the wreck were appalling. The night was dark save for the light from the blazing wreck of the coach that was crushed and splintered on top of the engine. Men swarmed about it combatting the flames with the means at hand, groping their way through the blinding, scalding steam that rose in clouds, hunting for the injured, whose piteous cries were such as chilled the hearts of those who heard them. The water supply was small, and the means at hand for fighting the flames were pitifully inadequate, but the zeal of the rescuers wrought great things for the first few minutes.

Trainman Conductor J. J. O'Neill, with his froce of porters, did valiant work in helping care for the injured as they were taken from the wreck. Bedding, blankets and sheets were stripped from the bunks of the four Pullman coaches and used for the relief of the sufferers.

Conductor Alexander Hammond, who escaped, started the work of rescue and led his fellow-trainmen and the less seriously hurt of the passengers in deeds that were truly heroic.

Speeding Like the Wind.

The wrecked train was making nearly 75 miles an hour when the accident occurred, according to Fireman Aaron Gorham, of Norwalk, who, badly bruised, but otherwise uninjured, miraculously escaped death.

"We were speeding like the wind," said Gorham, "when the engine left the track. It occurred so quickly that I little knew what happened until we crashed into the Mentor freight house. I neither heard nor saw the engineer after that. The engine overturned and somehow the tank managed to fall upon me, but not heavily, and I was sheltered by it. I lost consciousness from the terrible blow which I had received upon the head, and I knew nothing until I was dragged from underneath the wrecked engine."

Conductor Alexander Hammond, of the limited, said:

"I rushed back to the switch immediately after the wreck. It was open, and locked open. I tried it, and found that it worked all right. The switch light was out. Not a wheel rolled over the switch since No. 10, the eastbound Chicago and Boston train went through forty-five minutes before."

D. C. Moon, assistant general superintendent of the Lake Shore, after investigating the cause of the wreck, made this statement today:

"I have made a careful and thorough examination. The switch was open. I am satisfied that somebody, having a key, opened the switch with malicious intent. The train did not jump the track."

A quantity of first-class mail was destroyed by the fire which consumed all except the two rear coaches. The train was largely composed of through pouches from the west and destined to eastern points.

Fast Train Taken Off.

New York, June 22.—President Newman, of the New York Central and Lake Shore railroads, said today that the twenty-hour schedule of the Twentieth Century limited train on the New York Central and Lake Shore line will be restored at once in place of the eighteen-hour schedule, on which the train had been running for only a few days. President Newman said.

"Since the sad accident which has happened on the Lake Shore I have had a consultation with the operating officials who have explained that the accident was caused by a misplaced switch, and was not due to the speed of the train, and they assure me that the present schedule can be safely and easily maintained. While I agree with the operating officials that there is no physical reason why the schedule should not be continued, nevertheless in my judgment the time of the Twentieth Century limited should be restored to twenty hours, and it will be done at once. Until the new schedule can be arranged the Twentieth Century limited train will leave New York at 3.50 p. m., and Chicago at 2:30 p. m., as at present, but will run on a twenty-hour schedule, arriving at either terminal two hours later than at present."

Bennett Great Patent Lawyer.

New York, June 22.—John R. Bennett, who met death in the Twentieth Century wreck at Mentor, Ohio, was one of the foremost patent lawyers of the country and appeared in many of the important cases growing out of the infringements on grat inventions, his most notable case perhaps was his victory for New York city in a celebrated suit over the use of fire hose attachments. The case dragged along for more than twenty-five years and involved nearly $27,000,000.

Mr. Bennett had a fine country home at Danville, Pa., and a city residence in West Thirty-third street. When a reporter called there and told the butler who answered the ring that Mr. Bennett had been killed, the attorney's wife overheard the conversation from the landing above. She became hysterical and it was necessary to call a physician.

Beckwith Well Known as Advertiser.

New York, June 22.—S. C. Beckwith, who died today as a result of injuries sustained in the Lake Shore wreck, was well known in newspaper advertising circles. He was president of the S. C. Beckwith special advertising agency, which has offices in this city. He was born at Connorsville, Md., fifty years ago and is survived by a widow and two brothers.

REPRIEVE GIVEN TO MRS. ROGERS

For Third Time Woman is Saved From Gallows.

Reprieve Is Granted Until December 8, So That the Case May Be Carried to Supreme Court of the United States.

Brattleboro, Vt., June 22.—A reprieve until December 8 for Mrs. Mary M. Rogers, the condemned murderess, was signed this afternoon by Governor Charles J. Bell and for the third time the woman who was to have been hanged at Windsor tomorrow for killing her husband has been saved through the operation of the governor's power to stay the execution.

Today's reprieve was granted in order that the case may be carried to the supreme court of the United States on constitutional questions which were raised at a hearing before Judge H. H. Wheeler, sitting as a justice of the United States circuit court.

Mrs. Rogers' attorneys petitioned for her release on a writ of habeas corpus. The court declined to grant the petition, but suggested that the points of law raised by the petitioner were such as to be passed upon by the supreme court of the United States. The refusal of the judge to grant the writ was at once followed by the filing of an appeal. Judge Wheeler thereupon announced that he would render his decision on the question of appeal late in the day, in order to give Governor Bell an opportunity to reprieve Mrs. Rogers.

This afternoon Judge Wheeler received a dispatch from Governor Bell at White River Junction, announcing that Mrs. Rogers had been reprieved. The judge at once signed the paper which gave to Mrs. Rogers the legal right to have her case heard by the supreme court of the United States.

President Taylor Resigns.

Raleigh, N. C., June 23.—Dr. Chase E. Taylor, president of Wake Forrest college, tendered his resignation to the board of trustees at a meeting held here tonight, and Professor William L. Poteat, a member of the faculty, was elected president to succeed him.

8-HOUR SMOKER A BIG SUCCESS

Over 1,000 Persons, Guests of Typos, at Turn Verein Hall.

The Big Smoker Proved the Feature So Far of the Convention of the Georgia Federation of Labor. Eight-Hour Movement Explained.

Over 1,000 people assembled at the Turn Verein hall, on Forsyth street, last night to attend the "eight hour smoker" given by Atlanta Typographical Union, No. 48, in honor of the Georgia State Federation of Labor in session in this city.

The arrangements for the smoker were made by the eight-hour committee of the Atlanta Typographical Union, No. 48, and it was intended not only as a compliment to the Georgia Federation of Labor, but also to instill enthusiasm into the hearts of all union men, no matter what their particular line of work.

Everything in any way connected with the smoker was made by union labor. A union orchestra furnished the music, union breweries made the beer, union cigar factories manufactured the cigars, and, as the first speaker jocularly said, "the sandwiches were made by union hands."

The smoker began at 8:30 o'clock, and it was in the wee small hours when the large assemblage marched out of the beautifully decorated hall. Flags were hung conspicuously from posts, and two lines were strung across the length of the hall, upon which were hundreds of red cards, in the shape of the figure "8," and upon which were printed the two words "Eight Hours."

Buchanan's orchestra furnished music for the occasion, and their many pretty renditions were well received. William S. Wardlaw, chairman of the eight-hour committee of the Atlanta Typographical Union, was master of ceremonies. He made a few remarks in a happy vein and then introduced Wade P. Harding, president of the Atlanta Typographical Union, who delivered an address of welcome. Joseph B. Hewitt, president of the Atlanta Federation of Trades, followed with a talk, and called attention to the fact that the meetings of the state federation of labor were not held behind closed doors.

President Jones Speaks.

Following two enthusiastically received songs of Solon Drukenmiller came the address of Jerome Jones, president of the state federation, which was cheered to the echo. Mr. Jones said there could be no law in Georgia of benefit to the masses which would not be of benefit to the state.

Referring to the 8-hour movement, he said it was not a question of how much wages or of price, "but of how much of this flesh and blood we must give as a day's work."

John W. Hayes, first vice president of the International Typographical Union, delivered the address of the evening. He said he was informed that the employing printers had ben invited to attend the smoker, that not one was in the hall, but that some of them had sent representatives to report how much of a success, if any, the meeting was. He hoped the representatives would do their duty.

He gave four reasons for the eight hour movement, the fact that physical laws demand eight hours for sleep, and eight for recreation and play; that machinery had reduced the number of workers necessary, and that the printers should share in the results of recent time-saving inventions.

Other speakers were Hon. C. T. Ladson, counsel for the state federation, Hon. Madison Bell, John J. Williams, of Charlotte, N. C., secretary of the Southeastern Association of Printers, which meets in Atlanta in August, Walter C. Puckett, secretary of the State Federation, and Mayor James G. Woodward, who said E. M. Parry, president of the manufacturers association, did not pay his men over $1 per day, and handed that gentleman several other raps.

After the speeches, the meeting partook of an informal nature, and speakers were called from the audience. Delightful refreshments were served during the evening. A motion was made and passed to have the speech of Mr. Hayes printed in pamphlet form and distributed throughout the state.

Dave Silverman rendered a selection on the violin, and Joe Elliott sang two coon and two ballad songs.

All in all, the smoker was one of the most delightful affairs ever given in Atlanta, and the memory of it will, no doubt, linger long with all fortunate enough to have attended.

WEAVER PUTTING PROBE IN DEEP

Mayor Determined To Overhaul Things in Philadelphia.

He Has Put Experts at Work on Filtration System—Policemen Have Been Ordered to Withdraw From Political Clubs.

Philadelphia, June 22.—Frequent conferences were held between Mayor Weaver and his counsel today, but thus far they have been followed by no new developments and neither the mayor nor his counsel will intimate what the next move on their part will be or when it will be made. Mayor Weaver also had a talk with City Comptroller Walton, City Treasurer Shoch and Solicitor Kinsey in reference to the filtration contracts.

To Investigate System.

Announcement was made today of the selection of H. D. Parsons, of New York, an engineer, to take charge of the investigation of the physical work of the filtration system.

Mr. Parsons has been given authority to pick the men who shall assist him in that investigation and as soon as his choice shall be made the actual inquiry will be begun.

It was explained at the mayor's office today that Messrs E. T. Perrine and A. L. Tinsley, experts engaged in the filtration contract investigation, would devote their time entirely to an exhaustive examination of the books, drawings and other records in the filtration bureau and would have nothing to do with the investigation into the work on the system, while William B. Parsons, who was chief engineer on the New York Subway, who is a member of the Panama canal commission, will have general supervision of the entire inquiry.

Policemen Scored.

Director Potter of the department of public safety today severely scored the sergeants of police for what he termed their neglect of duty. Departing from the usual custom of having the district lieutenants report to the superintendent of police, the director today ordered the sergeants to the city hall. While they were assembled in the roll room Director Potter entered and delivered a scathing address.

'Everd day," he said, "complaints reach me in reference to the conduct of policemen, but there could be no shirking of duty and misconduct on the part of the men if sergeants kept a strict surveillance over the men."

Continuing, Director Potter said that he had received information that policemen were seen entering a notorious republican club frequently while on duty.

'I understand,' said the director, 'that patrolmen know just when to expect the street sergeant on his rounds. They meet him and then almost before he gets out of sight they sneak into the club. I want it distinctively understood that orders have been issued that policemen resign from all political clubs. This order is still in effect and you will be responsible for its enforcement.'

The director said he was informed that a circular had been issued instructing policemen how to evade orders and he emphatically told them they were to take no instructions from any ward leaders.

cluded in the preliminary report. It is understood that the experts of the state insurance department who were at work on the society's books will require four and possible five months to complete their examination of the company's financial affairs. Whether in the meantime any preliminary report will be presented is uncertain.

Mr. Hendricks said today:

'You may notice that this is a preliminary report on the investigation of the Equitable association. At a meeting in New York in May I stated to a number of insurance commissioners from different states that I would be able to present a report on its management by June 15. In consequence of this statement I felt obliged to submit this report before I had fully completed the investigation. There are several matters in reference to the management that are not finished and of which I was unable to get the facts for the report which will be gone into during the examination which is now in progress as to the financial condition of the society."

More Directors To Resign.

New York, June 22—Chairman Morton of the Equitable society today declined to comment on the Hendricks report saying that he had not yet digested it. He said he had not yet excepted any more resignations. From an authoritative source it was learned that Mr. Morton is now devoting himself largely to the work of reorganizing the board of directors. It is understood that the board of trustees have considered a number of names of representative men to take the places of those who have resigned and that at least a half dozen of the remaining directors will soon leave the board.

Henry C. Frick declined to discuss the Hendricks report but to the statement that it seems a vindication of the Frick committee findings, he said.

"I don't think we need any vindication."

August Belmont, president of the Interborough Rapid Transit company has tendered his resignation as director of the Equitable society to former President Grover Cleveland, of the new board of Equitable trustees to take effect if the trustees accept it. They have not yet done so.

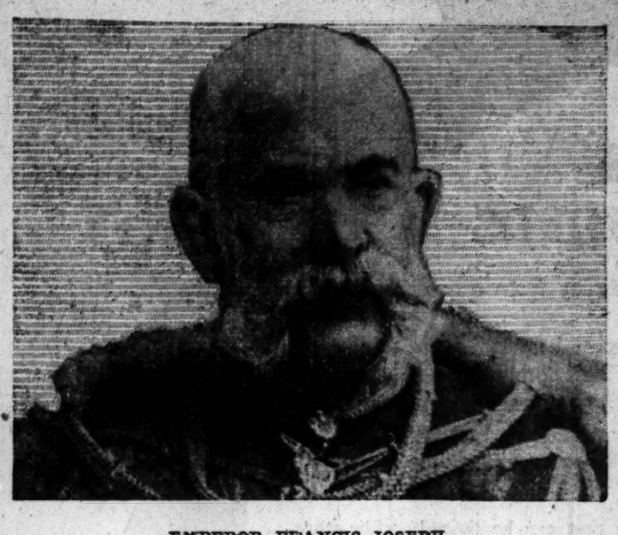
OLD EMPEROR PARADES IN HONOR OF THE HOST



EMPEROR FRANCIS JOSEPH.

Francis Joseph Takes Part in Corpus Christi Procession at Vienna---Parade Was Marked by Barbaric Splendor.

VIENNA, June 22.—Amid accompaniments of medieval pompand circumstance the aged emperor of Austria, king of Hungary and Bohemia, etc., Francis Joseph took part in the early Corpus Christi procession in Vienna today. His majesty was greeted enthusiastically by his people as he was driven through the streets of the inner city, but it was the universal dictum of the Viennese that there emperor had aged greatly since they last saw him in this ceremony two years ago and the appearance of his majesty, who will, if he lives, celebrate the sixteth anniversary of his ascension to the throne of 1908 suggested to many minds that this may be the last time the venerable monarch will appear before his people in this beautiful festival of the Catholic church.

Beginning with the earliest morning hours the streets of the inner city of Vienna were filled with movement and life in expectation of the coming procession and people flocked to the windows, balconies and the stands along the line of march which were crowded. The streets were decorated with flags, boughs of trees and many colored hangings, and at convenient places the temporary open air altars had been erected.

The procession started from the Hofburg, Cathedral of Stefansplatz, where the ceremonies were held, and then returned to the Hofburg.

Gorgeous colors, crimson, gold and silver, magnificent uniforms and trappings, glowing tunics, the clanking of the march of soldiers and the silent tread of the clergy in a strange contrast, the flashing of jewels and the glare in the sunlight of the white robes of the priest, barbaric and brilliant splendor and silent prayers marked the passing of the sacred and military procession in honor of the consecrated host.

The lesser came first, then the equerries, pages and others of the imperial house. Little drummers in gala uniform, the court chamberlains, many high personages of state, heralds and other high military officers followed. The host was borne by the archbishop of Vienna, surrounded by the prelates of the church and after him came the emperor. In former years it was the custom of his majesty to walk, but now because of his age he rides. Today he appeared in a gala coach drawn by eight of the royal white horses and accompanied by Archduke Ferdinand, the successor to the throne, the other archdukes, all in magnificent uniforms, were in royal carriages and came after his majesty.

The procession marched to the main entrance of the cathedral and went in through the broad doors facing on the Stefansplatz. After the religious ceremonies it took its way back to the Hofburg over another line of march in order to give the people of the city increased opportunities to witness its glittering pageantry. From one of the balconies of the palace the procession was witnessed by the archduchesses and their children.

The ceremonies came to an end with the defiling before his majesty of the troops which had taken part therein.

YOUNG BAPTISTS WILL MEET HERE

Next State Convention B. Y. P. U. Comes to Atlanta.

Rev. Robert VanDeventer Is Chosen President, and S. A. Conan, of Atlanta, Secretary and Treasurer — Spiritual Wave Sweeps Assembly.

Moultrie, Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—The next state convention of the Baptist Young People's Union meets in Atlanta on Tuesday after the third Sunday in June, 1906. The invitation came from the Woodward Avenue church.

The officers elected for the ensuing year are: President, Rev. Robert Van Deventer, of Savannah; vice presidents, John E. Howell, Moultrie; J. S. McLemore, Statesboro; T. J. Todd, Romé; G. W. Macon, Macon; secretary and treasurer, S. A. Cowan, Atlanta; executive committee, R. M. Norman, F. P. Bell, E. M. Willingham, Joe Little, Henry H Miller, J. J. Whitefield, J. H. Moncrief, R. W. Eubanks, A. J. Moncrief, W. J. Northern; state leader of the junior work, Mrs. J. H. Moncrief, Greensboro.

A collection taken to pay off the convention's pledges resulted in a free will offering of $136.

In the afternoon addresses on the importance of Bible reading were made by Rev. Carl Minor, Professor G. W. Macon and others.

Class Illustrates Work.

One Moultrie class in the sacred literature course gave an illustration of class work. Rev. Van Deventer, of Savannah, gave an illustration in teaching missionary courses, taking China of the present day for his subject.

The greatest meeting of the convention was the closing session tonight, when the eloquent Dr. G. A. Nunnally, of LaGrange, spoke on the "Crown of the Service." It was another great spiritual meeting, and there were a number of heart to heart talks. The enrollment of delegates reached four hundred and fifty, the largest convention the organization has ever had.

CRAWFORD GETS A MISTRIAL.

The Jury Couldn't Agree on Alleged Postal Grafter.

Washington, June 22.—No verdict was reached in the case of William G. Crawford, charged with conspiring with August W. Machen and George E. Lorenz to defraud the government in connection with contracts to furnish letter carriers' satchels to the postoffice department, and after deliberating for more than forty-seven hours, the jury was discharged today.

The case was on trial five weeks. Machen and Lorenz, who were made co-defendants with Crawford under the indictment, had been convicted on charges of conspiracy in connection with other contracts. At the outset of the Crawford trial Machen pleaded guilty. Lorenz had been granted a severance and became a government witness. Crawford was put on the stand and he disputed the testimony of Lorenz in every essential detail.

Thirty Young Men Receive Degrees at the Grand.

Hon. N. E. Harris, Congressman Adamson and Chancellor Hill Deliver Strong Addresses. Enthusiastic Praise for President Hall.

Yesterday afternoon, before a large and appreciative audience, the thirty young men who have composed the senior class of the Georgia School of Technology during the past year, received diplomas at the Grand opera house, and one of the most successful years in the history of the institution came to an end.

Yesterday morning, between 9 and 12 o'clock, the buildings of the college and the campus were thronged with visitors. Every student in the school was at his place in the shops during these hours, and exhibitions of the year's work were shown the visitors. Among the distinguished persons who visited the college during the morning were Governor J. M. Terrell and Congressman W. C. Adamson.

At noon President Hall tendered the board of trustees of the college and the members of the faculty a luncheon at his home.

Graduation Exercises.

There was probably never a more splendid body of young men graduated by any college in the state than that which received degrees yesterday afternoon from the Tech.

Every man has labored hard during the past year to make a record and all have won a success that they can be proud of.

After the exercises were opened with prayer by Rev. Richard Orme Flinn, the annual address was delivered by Congressman W. C. Adamson. He praised the Tech for the good work that it has accomplished and told the graduates that they had splendid opportunities in the world. No college, said he, surpassed the Georgia Tech, and, further, that he who holds a diploma from it should have won half the battle in life. Mr. Adamson read a lesson to the graduates, giving them sound advice. He declared that brilliant intellect and education alone did not make a man, but that the thing most required was character. Character, said he, was absolutely necessary; without charater all other things would be useless and vain. Mr. Adamson spoke of the fine field offered the mechanic and the engineer today.

Mr. Adamson spoke at length on the great future of the south. He said that the place for the young man was the south. There was no need, said he, for any young graduate to seek other fields in which to labor and spend his energies. He urged the young men to "stay at home" and make their successes here. Mr. Adamson was interrupted several times by loud applause and his address was thoroughly appreciated by the graduates and the audience.

Chancellor Hill Speaks.

The baccalaureate address was delivered by Chancellor Walter B. Hill, of the University of Georgia. Though brief, Chancellor Hill's address was eloquent and to the point. Like Congressman Adamson, he thought that the young men who were about to be graduated had splendid opportunities to become useful to their country. But Mr. Hill declared that education alone did not make success. To have a Christian character was the most vital thing. And all the schools and colleges in the country, he said, could not give a man character. This he would have to make for himself and work out his own Christian destiny by his deeds and his living. He paid a tribute to President Lyman Hall, of the Tech. He considered Captain Hall one of the foremost educators in the country, and thought that the Tech was to be congratulated in having his services.

Diplomas Delivered.

At the conclusion of Chancellor Hill's address President Hall delivered the diplomas to the graduates. The following young men received diplomas, many of whom were presented with large bouquets of flowers after receiving the diplomas:

Henry Edward Eagan, Elbert Pierce McGhee, Percy Wallace Thompson, James Carl Loyd, Henry Jackson Scales, Robert Gregg, James Hatten Howard, Jr., Lamar Sheffield Collier, James Deakin Collins, Jr.; Lute Hunnicutt, Thomas Anthony Lambert, Frank Augustus Kroner, Tunis Walter Morton, James Hunter McConnell, James Elmo Weeks, Fred Clisby Morton, Sydney Kittrell Smith, Joseph Roscoe Spence, Phineas Varnum Stephens, Evan Barnett Basch, William Crawford Burns, Edward Henley Bussey, Thomas Douglas Stanton, Colyar Sutton Tatum, James Walter Houseal, William Franklin Montgomery, Jr., William Albert Pringle, Jr., John Swift Brogdon, Lloyd Cadle Daniels.

L. S. Collier was presented with the medal offered by Colonel Walter P. Andrews for the best record in mathematics. J. S. Scales and Percy Thompson were presented with the medals offered by The Railway Herald for the best work in mechanical engineering.

—Colonel N. R. Harris Speaks.

After the delivery of the diplomas and prizes an able address was delivered by Colonel N. R. Harris, of Macon, president of the board of trustees of the Tech.

His address follows:

"Your diplomas have been delivered, the baccalaureate address has been made and you are now about to be dismissed from your alma mater. In accordance with the custom here the last words are to be spoken by the chairman of the board. You have heard much advice; I shall only add a word or two.

"Your diplomas is only the foundation upon which you are to build, and you face the world with it in your hand and the world faces you. The word comes from a Greek source, the original meaning 'to double.' You are supposed to be worth twice what you were when you entered the intstitution. But I go further today. It has been estimated that your diploma gives you just 800 chances over the untrained and uneducated to succeed in the ordinary pursuits of life. In technical callings the chances might be estimated safely at something over 100,000.

"Each of you represents a steam, engine which is constructed mainly for the application and extension of power. A steam engine would be utterly worthless to the world if it were left standing in the yard fired up, yet with all its prodigious powers held in check by its valves and levers, it would do no good to its owner or its creator and its construction would be a useless expense. It would soon rust out.

"But hitch it to a train, put its powers in operation through the agencies prepared for them and it will assist in moving the commerce of the world and transacting the business of men and nations. You must rust or run.

"They have polished you up in the work shops here; the professors have fitted every piece in the mechanism of your educated powers and God Almighty has given you the will to direct and the brain to apply. The result is with you.

"Every man in this world has three times, or opportunities, has his sowing time, his growing time and his mowing time; he plants, he tends and he gathers in the crop. As you sow so shall you reap. If you have made the best of your opportunities here, it will prove that you will make the best of them hereafter.

"Not all of you have the same education, though you have gone through the same curriculum. Some have finer powers among you than others.

"But don't forget, young gentlemen, that you have all come to the starting post together. You begin the race so far as outside adjuncts are concerned on an equality. Some of you will run with clean limbs and will leave the others behind, but those of you who are distanced I charge not to be discouraged. Keep on running, remembering that mind is a part of God; that it grows and develops while you run—toward the infinite—only the fetters of the flesh hold it down. If you keep striving you will conquer your fleshly environment, give your immortal part a chance to assert itself and success will come in the end. No man ever waited and watched and hoped and struggled that did not succeed if he kept off death long enough.

"Men are made nearer equal than the psychologists or physiologists or materialists are willing to admit.

"Do not acquire, young gentlemen, a habit of imputing mad motives to those who outclass you at the beginning, or outwork you or outrun you in life's races. This is the resort of small minds. Put it away from you. Especially as you work or run, set up high ideals, and remember that the world will come to you if you deserve it. Merit may be overlooked for a time, but it finally makes its way.

"Energy is genius and merit, and work will always go together. You are on the summit of forty centuries. You can look forward or backwards. The achievements of the centuries complete, are all yours to begin with. You have been called the heir of the ages. You confront the future equipped with powers of mind and heart to conquer further fields, to bend nature to your will, and carry the banners of progress on to a new century's mountain top.

"Earth is a vast whispering gallery, and the centuries are only telegraph wires that convey the thoughts of one age to another. The man out yonder in the first century whispered to the man here in the twentieth century, and he was heard over the track of the ages.

"Your science teaches you that nothing is lost in the world. You make and write your own record, fixing it in the imperishable vibrations of the great etherial scroll of the universe—a memorial of good or of evil, of success or of failure, of joy or sorrow, of hope or despair. So Tenneyson tells us—

" 'Our echoes roll from soul to soul,
And grow forever and forever.'

"Young gentlemen, your diploma can be a agency for good in the world or an agency for evil. Bear this in mind. Your powers for either have been developed in the same ratio to which I have called your attention. If you employ those educated powers for evil, all the devils will rejoice and the angels above you will weep; if you employ them for good the angels will rejoice and the devils hide their heads in disappointment.

"Sardanapalus, the assigned king, once said: 'Put this on my tomb, "Eat, drink and be merry—the rest is not worth the snap of your finger." When Aristotle was told of this inscription that great heathen philosopher said that it should have been written on the tomb of a beast, and not of a man.

"Young gentlemen, eat, drink and be merry while you can, but do not forget that these are only the adjuncts of life, that the greater, the higher, the grander life of work, of devotion, of help to the world is the sacred teaching of your creation, and with the hope of succeeding in this way you should go out into the world."

At the meeting of the board of trustees, held yesterday morning in the office of President Lyman Hall, a resolution was adopted to ask the Georgia legislature, at its next session, to appropriate $10,000 for the purpose of erecting a chemical laboratory on the campus. This has long been needed by the institution, and it is believed that the legislature will give the money needed to erect it. The board granted President Hall a leave of absence of several months, in recognition of his faithful and untiring services, but he will return to the college before the fall opening.

ANGRY ELDERLY DAME BARS HIGHWAY WITH GUN

WICHITA, KANS., June 22.—A posse of armed citizens, headed by Sheriff Schad, has gone to Baynesville, 15 miles south of Wichita, to capture Mrs. E. Rosebery, an elderly woman, who has been keeping watch with shotgun over the highway in front of her premises. She has disputed the right of Rural Mail Carrier Gardner to use the road as a mail route and fired at the carrier as he passed the house. Gardner notified the United States authorities and a warrant was issued for the arrest of Mrs. Rosebery. She has entrenched herself in her dwelling.

WOMAN OFFERED $30,000 WON'T BECOME CATHOLIC

DAVENPORT, IOWA, June 22.—Refusing $30,000 rather than change her religion by becoming a Catholic is the threat by which Mrs. Lucinda Ganson, of this city, has astonished her friends. Charles Simpson, a wealthy friend of the Ganson family, recently died in Sacramento, Cal., and Mrs. Ganson has received word that he left her $30,000 in his will on condition that she become a Catholic. In event of her refusal, the money was to go to a Catholic orphanage in Sacramento. "Thirty thousand dollars is an immense sum of money," said Mrs. Ganson today, "but I cannot think of changing my religion for any amount of money. I don't feel that I could be faithful to the Catholic church, while I have nothing against it. I shall let the legacy go to the orphanage and not imperil my own salvation by changing my religion or belief for money."

HANSELL NORMAN SHOT DEAD

Young Georgian Killed by Flagin, in Florida.

Moultrie, Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—A message was received here last night from Brooksville, Fla., stating that J. Hansell Norman, of this county, was shot and killed at that place yesterday afternoon by a man by the name of Golf Flagin. According to the message, Flagin was beating a negro when Norman interfered, whereupon Flagin fired upon Norman, killing him instantly. Flagin escaped and has not been captured. Mr. Norman was about 22 years old and was the eldest son of Hon. J. B. Norman, Jr., of Norman Park. He was in Florida looking after his father's naval stores business. The remains will reach Norman Park tomorrow for interment.

Mother's Friend

LEAD AND RAZOR END TWO LIVES

Head is Shot Dead and Chapman's Throat Cut.

Theory of Relatives Is That Chapman Killed Head and Then Took His Own Life—Men Were Enemies for Long Time.

Griffin, Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—Thomas T. Head, first cousin to Sheriff B. C. Head, and related to many families in this county, was found in the public road about three hundred yards from his home in the eastern part of Spalding county this morning at daybreak with five bullet wounds in his body, cold in death.

A few miles from where he lay his neighbor Prentice Chapman, who had long been an enemy, was found at his home with his throat cut and a bloody razor near his hand.

It is the theory of all the county that Chapman waylaid Head last night and killed him and then took his own life and the relatives of both men concede that this is the only explanation of the tragedy. The men had been very unfriendly for a long time and Chapman had often threatened to take the life of Head.

Both men lived at Head's shops, in the eastern part of this county, and were members of prominent families who had resided in that section for years. Both tween their families there had never been much friendship and between these two ther had grown up an especial grudge.

About five months ago the young wife of Chapman was recovering from a severe illness and Head, who is an officer of the county, went to the house for the purpose of serving some court paper. Chapman, who was absent at the time, always claimed to his friends that Mr. Head was so offensive and abusive in the presence of his wife that she became prostrated and suffered a relapse in her illness that caused her death. He talked about it and brooded over the death of his wife a great deal.

Recently the two men had a great deal of trouble over the negro hands of each and yesterday Mr. Chapman took a warrant for Mr. Head, charging him with interferring with his labor. The case did not come up and Mr. Head went to justice of the peace yesterday to get a peace warrant for Chapman. The justice had written out the warrant when Mr. Head said:

"Well, You can tear that up. I never took a peace warrant for a man and I won't start now. He says he is going to kill me, though."

Took Supper With Neighbor.

Last night Mr. Head, who is a widower, took supper with a neighbor, Mr. Huddleston, and left his house about 10 o'clock for his home.

Before leaving he spoke to Mr. Huddleston about the trouble he had with Chapman and said: "He says he is going to kill me and maybe he'll do it tonight." How Chapman spent the early part of the night is not known. Late last night he went by his father's home and told his mother that he was going to leave the country. She asked him why, and he said: "Well, if I don't, Gyp Head will be coming after me tomorrow." He said: "I am either going to kill myself or go off." His mother talked to him and tried to persuade him not to worry more over the Head trouble. This conversation took place after negroes had heard shooting in the direction of Tom Head's house.

This morning Chapman's body was found before that of Mr. Head, the road leading to the latter's house not being very much frequented. Both of the men were widowers, and only one child survives them, Mr. Head having one son about eleven years old.

Brushey, or Heads Shops, where both lived, is about 7 miles east of Griffin, on the road to High Falls, and has been the scene of a great many shooting affrays, although this last one involves more prominent people than any before. The funeral of both men occurred this afternoon, and followed immediately the coroner's inquest, which found a verdict in accordance with the above stated facts. There is a very large family connection of both men, but it is thought that the trouble will end here.

Mr. Head and Mr. Chapman were about the same age, Head being 40 and Chapman about 35.

CLAY AND GRIGGS SPEAK AT TIFTON

Distinguished Georgians Were Heard by Large Assemblage.

Australian Ballot, Mental and Moral Education, Progress of That Section Were Among Subjects Ably Handled by the Speakers.

Tifton, Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—United States Senator A. S. Clay and Congressman J. M. Griggs, of the second Georgia district, were the guests of Tifton today. They spoke in the fair building, beginning at 10:30 o'clock. Congressman Griggs spoke for an hour and his remarks were along the general lines of education and the duties of citizenship. "Our people," said he, "do not meet together often enough. In other sections of the country town meetings are regularly held, at which matters of public policy are discussed, resulting in enightened citizenship. Our people should spend more money for schools and colleges and they will need less for court houses and jails and the expenses of the courts. The supremacy of the race depends on a higher and better education."

Speaking of the proposed new county of Tift, he said that its establishment was a fact conceeded by every one except ourselves. His remraks were received with appreciation by the large audience.

Senator Clay was introduced by Colonel F. S. Harrell. This was his first visit to Tifton and Berien county, and the people were delighted to make his acquaintance. His speech was along the line of the highest and purest ideals, and was an appeal for a higher plane of citizenship and for a better education, more intelligent and morally trained suffrage. The future of this country he regarded as not depending on a large standing army, or a great costly navy, but upon the intelligence and patriotism of the voters.

Train People Morally.

"It is the highest duty of the American citizens to see that the coming generation is trained not only mentally, but morally, to discharge of full duties of citizenship."

International arbitration he regarded as a solution of the problems of the future. He thought that this government should have long since interfered in the interest of peace in the Far East, and it was his opinion that in the near future arbitration would supplant war.

He strongly recommended the Australian ballot system for the state and expressed the hope that the next legislature would put it in operation. He spoke at length on the development of this section of the state, and of its great possibilities of the future, giving the growth of Tifton as the case in point.

"This development," he said, "was brought ou tby men who worked." He had no patience with the idler or the kicker.

Senator Clay's speech was enthusiastically received and his visit here created a most favorable impression on the people.

Senator Clay and Judge Griggs were entertained by friends while in the city.

Childs Adjudged Insane.

Macon, Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—The father of W. R. Childs, the young farmer who was arrested by the police here yesterday after he had secured a revolver on the account of a Macon hardware firm's customer in Danville, today secured a writ of lunacy at the office of Ordinary C. M. Wiley and the young man was placed on trial for the purpose of determining whether he is a fit subject to be sent to the state asylum. His father asserted that he was unbalanced and had several times shown evidences of insanity. He will be held for the authorities at Milledgeville.

Attorney Northrop Improves.

Macon, Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—Attorney C. B. Northrop, general counsel for the Southern railraw with headquarters at Washington who came to Macon Sunday for the purpose of appearing in the freight rate case before Judge Speer in the United States circuit court, is much improved and it is now certain that an operation will not be necessary. He has suffered a dangerous attack of appendicitis and has been in the city hospital since his arrival here.

Opera House Nears Completion.

Macon, Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—Macon's new seven-story Grand Opera house is going up rapidly. Messrs. L. DeGive and Son of Atlanta, are rushing with all possible speed in order to have the fifth floor ready for the temporary quarters for the federal courts. The courts are to be moved from the old federal building as soon as possible in order to allow the contractors to begin work on the new government building. Macon's new postoffice is soon to go into temporary quarters in the old Davis stables on Mulberry street. The old federal building will then be demolished.

Funeral of D. M. Gugle.

Macon, Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—The funeral of D. M. Gugle occurred at Christ church here this afternoon at 5 o'clock. The board of education, of which he had long been a member, attended the services in a body, and a large number of the friends of the deceased man also were present. The body was interred in Rose Hill cemetery.

1/4 SIZES IN 75 STYLES OF ANKLE-FIT OXFORDS

The new Regal Oxfords are most remarkably different from any other line of low-cut shoes that can be shown to you.

We have built all of this year's Oxfords on special Oxford lasts, while other manufacturers are still using one set of lasts for both High shoes and Oxfords. Regal Oxfords cannot chafe at the heel nor gape at the sides—while other Oxfords are almost certain to do both.

We have produced a complete line of new Oxfords in Quarter Sizes while other manufacturers are still offering you Half Sizes as their nearest approach to perfect fit.

We use only the best leathers that can be tanned—while other manufacturers are shaving down the quality more and more to make up for this season's higher cost of leather.

We prove every Regal claim before you buy—except those that can't be proved till afterward, and those we guarantee.

We say that Regal soles are honest, old-fashioned, live-oak leather, and we prove it by the "Window of the Sole".

We say that every hidden part of the Regal is made of the best material that can be worked into shoes—and we prove it over and over again with the Regal buzz-saw.

We say we offer you a "six-dollar shoe at the wholesale price"—and we prove it.

We say the Regal will outwear any shoe made, at any price—and we guarantee it.

ARGUMENT ENDS IN RATE CASE

Judge Cann Has Not Decided the Stove Rate Matter.

Savannah(Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—Argument in the stove rate case was concluded this afternoon, and Judge Cann took the case under advisement.

Judge Cann did not indicate when he would render his decision, further than to say that it would be done at the earliest possible moment.

He said that he recognized the importance of an early determination of the matters at issue, but felt at the same time that the case was one which should be given due consideration.

In his argument today Attorney General Hart insisted that while the railroads might have a right to review the findings of railroad commissioners in the courts, the private citizen had no such right. This position of the attorney general caused the court to make frequent inquiries. Of the three hours spent in argument, fully half of it was spent in colloquies between the court and the attorney general.

It is too late at this time for the case to go to the supreme court at this session. Judge Cann said that he might not write his opinion out in the case, though he was inclined to the belief that, following the ordinary custom in cases presenting novel features, he would write out his opinion in full.

At the conclusion of argument both sides submitted briefs.

Judge Gerdine Sworn In.

Macon, Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—Ordinary C. M. Wiley today administered the oath of office to Judge J. H. L. Gerdine as ex-officio justice of the peace for another term of four years in Macon. Judge Gerdine has served in this office for twelve years, and is well known in this capacity.

VAN HISE HITS "TAINTED" CASH

And Carl Shurz Hits "Swashbucklers" at Wisconsin University.

Madison, Wis., June 22.—The commencement day address at the University of Wisconsin was delivered this afternoon by Hon. Cal Schurz, of New York. He said in part:

"This republic should stand as the gentleman par excellence among nations, a gentleman scorning the role of swashbuckler, whose hip pocket bulges with loaded six-shooters, and who flashes big diamonds on his fingers and shirt front, a gentleman modest in the consciousness of strength, carrying justice, forbearance and conciliation on his tongue, and benevolence in his hand, rather than a chip on his shoulder. If this republic is to endure and to be successful in its highest mission, it must put its trust rather in schools than in batle ships."

President Van Hise, in an address, severely scored "tainted fortunes" and deplored the upbuilding of universities by such means.

The degree of doctor of law was conferred on Carl Schurz.

GORDY WILL RUN FOR THE SENATE

Chattahoochee Citizen Will Try to Succeed Senator Miller.

Columbus, Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—Dr. Frank M. Gordy, or Chattahoochee county, will be a candidate to succeed Hon. B. S. Miller, as senator from the twenty-fourth senatorial district. Under the rotation system, it will be Chattahoochee's time next year to select the senator. Dr. Gordy's name is the only one that has been mentioned so far, and he will be elected, in all probability. Dr. Gordy has served as clerk and ordinary in Muscohee county for about fifteen years, and is very popular in that county and throughout the senatorial district, which is composed of the counties of Muscogee, Marion and Chattahoochee.

CITY PURCHASES A HOTEL

Tampa Buys Tampa Bay Hostelry and Grounds.

Tampa, Fla., June 22.—Something new in municipal ownership was inaugurated today when the city of Tampa paid the Ocean and Gulf Realty Company, of New York, $125,000 cash for the Tampa Bay hotel and grounds, becoming the sole owner of the property upon which the late Henry B. Plant spent $3,000,000. The city will use the grounds as a park and lease the hotel.

City Court Closes.

Macon, Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—The June term of the city court came to a close today, and the juries were relieved by Judge Hodges, after several days devoted to the civil work of the session. There will be no other jury cases in this court until September.

Voluntary Bankruptcy.

Macon, Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—James Smith, Jr., chief car inspector for the Central railroad here, filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy in the federal court here today. His schedules show liabilities amounting to $2,662 and no assets.

New Banks at Ashburn.

Tifton, Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—A meeting of Worth and Colquitt county citizens has been held in Tifton, to perfect the organization of the Citizens' bank of Ashburn. Those present were: W. A. Murray, R. A. Paulk, D. H. Davis, W. W. Cowan, A. B. Wells, A. J. Davis, Ashburn, Ga.; J. B. Norman, Norman Park, and Z. H. Clark, cashier of the Moultrie Banking Company, Moultrie. A president and vice president for the bank was named at the meeting: D. H. Davis, president, and W. A. Murray, vice president, both of Ashburn.

The new bank will begin business with a paid in capital of $15,000, and will erect its own building. The bank will be a handsome building, with all the latest fixtures, and will be ready the latter part of August, and by September 1, at the latest, the doors will be thrown open for business.

A cashier will be named.

Papers were signed up before Ordinary Tison, of Worth, and a charter for the Citizens' bank of Ashburn will be asked for immediately.

UNION BUTTON BLOCKS PEACE

Employers Will Not Agree for Teamsters to Wear Emblem.

Chicago, June 22.—A conspicuous display of the union button, it is said tonight, is all that stands in the way of a settlement of the teamsters' strike. A substitute committee of the striking teamsters' peace committee called on J. V. Farwell, representative of the Employers' Association today, and outlined a basis of settlement. One of the requests of the labor men was that the teamsters should be allowed to wear their union buttons if they agreed to accept the terms of settlement proposed by the employees. Mr. Farrell informed the committee that the employers could never agree to this proposal, and would insist on the men either dispensing with union emblems entirely or if wearing the button at all, keep it out of sight.

The subcommittee told Mr. Farrell that they had no authority to concede this point, but that they would lay the matter before the full committee, when a decision on the proposition would be reached. Another conference with Mr. Farwell was arranged for tomorrow, when a decision of the committee will be submitted to him.

MEN NOT FORCED INTO UNION

Chief W. S. Stone, of the Locomotive Engineers Makes Address.

Birmingham, Ala., June 22.—At a picnic at Germania park today, given by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Grand Chief W. S. Stone, of Cleveland, made an address, in which he said that the engineers union did not insist on a man's becoming a member of the organization.

"A man will not make a good member of a union if he is forced into it," said Mr. Stone. "There are numerous cases in the country where members of the engineers' union work side by side with non-union men."

Among the other prominent speakers were Governor Jelks, Lieutenant Governor Cunningham and Captain Richmond P. Hobson.

HAVE BUNDRICK, RUMOR DECLARES

Is Wanted at Cordele on the Charge of Murder.

Cordele, Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—Cordele was stirred today by a rumor which is said to be true that George Bundrick, wanted for murder, has been captured. The officers refuse to give out any further information, but it is believed that Bundrick was apprehended in Alabama or Mississippi. Shruder and Bundrick had gotten into a difficulty in Cordele over a negro laborer.

Next day Shrouder and his wife started to drive over to the home of Mrs. Shrouder's father. They were met on the road by the Bundrick boys, who were armed with shotguns, loaded with buckshot. Shrouder was killed almost instantly and his wife received a load of buckshot in the neck. It was feared for a long time that she would die, but she recovered. The Bundrick boys escaped, but Andrew was captured and is now serving a life sentence in the penitentiary.

Drouth Injuring Crops.

Washington, Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—The crops of Wilkes county are suffering considerably from lack of rain. For the past three weeks, following the long continued wet spell, the farmers have been working to rid their crops of the grass, and have about succeeded. Cotton is beginning to look parched and dry and will be seriously damaged if the dry spell continues.

Chicago, June 22.—The first general council of the Woman's Prohibition Club of America adjourned today after the election of the following officers:

President—Anna Sloan Walker, Decatur, Ills.

Secretary—Mary E. Balch, Louisville.

Unnecessary.

"No, sir," said Meeker, "I do not permit my wife to have her own way about anything.

"Is it possible?" exclaimed his friend Weeks, admiringly.

"It is," answered Meeker. "She simply has it without my permission."

Again: Modern Merchandising Methods

Without impression there is inaction. Without sensation, stagnation. The old way of doing business was stagnant, inert, the absence of sensation made it so. In those days other cities took great slices of the best Atlanta trade, but that is reversed now. Retailers have revolutionized the trade of the world by personal power working through new trade laws. Both forces are and have been here. The outcome is the store and its methods. The broad policy which deals squarely and liberally with the public and puts exact truth under large advertising first found full expression here. The result is a success which has lifted not merely our business but the business of the whole city.

WERE GUESTS OF OLD COMRADE

Members of Eighth Georgia Entertained at Louisville.

Rome, Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—Captain George C. Norton, of Louisville, Ky., head of the large wholesale dry goods house of J. M. Robinson, Norton & Co., is a former Roman and left this city directly after the war and has since been a resident of Louisville.

As a member of the old Eighth Georgia regiment he has many friends scattered throughout the state and he extended an invitation to every survivor of the regiment to attend he reunion of old confederates in Louisville as his guests. Many of his old comrades availed themselves of his kind invitation and spent three delightful days at the reunion, and were so pleased by his generous hospitality and kind attentions that they held a meeting and passed the following resolutions as expressions of their feelings toward him:

"Louisville, Ky., Willard Hotel.—We, the members of the Eighth Georgia regiment, at a meeting held in the city of Louisville this, the 16th day of June, 1905, take this method of expressing our love for and appreciation of our former fellow-citizen and member of the old Eighth Georgia regiment, Captain George C. Norton, that:

"Whereas, in the providence of God so many of us have been spared to see this good day and enjoy the unsurpassed hospitality of our friend and comerade:

"Be it resolved, That we tender him our heartfelt thanks for his unstintec liberality and many acts of loving attention:

"And be it further resolved, That we wish for him and his family all the happiness and prosperity this world can give, and then an eternal and endless happiness in the world to come;

"And be it further resolved, That we furnish our friend and comrade and family a copy of these resolutions as a slight token of our lovs and esteem for him, and that the Georgia papers be requested to publish same.

Hon. Madison Bell Caned.

Dublin, Ga., June 22.—((Special.)—Hon. Madison Bell, representative-elect from Fulton county, has been paid a handsome compliment by some of his friends and admirers in this city. Recently Mr. Bell delivered a very able and instructive educational address upon the occasion of the closing exercises of the Dublin schools. So deeply were his hearers impressed by his address that a movement was immediately set on foot among the members of the board of education to give substantial expression to their appreciation. This took the shape of a handsome gold-headed cane, inscribed, "Hon .Madison Bell, from the board of education of Dublin." This cane has been sent to Mr. Bell by Hon. H. M. Stanley, of The Courier-Dispatch, acting on behalf of the donors. It is a gift of which Mr. Bell may well feel proud.

Briggs Won't Hang Today.

Dispatches From "Block System."

Denver, June 22.—The annual convention of the Train Dispatchers' association, which is in session here, has reiterated its stand in favor of "block system" for handling trains, and the delegates appear to favor some legislative action to enforce the adoption of this system.

GOV. LUBBOCK CROSSES RIVER

He Was With Jefferson Davis When Latter Was Captured.

Austin, Texas, June 22.—Former Governor Frank R. Lubbock, one of the most interesting figures in Texas, died here tonight, aged 90 years. Governor Lubbock suffered a stroke of paralysis last Tuesday afternoon, from which he never regained consciousness. He had been married three times, and is survived by his third wife and a number of relatives. He had been state treasurer and was conspicuously identified with public life in Texas, having risen into prominence since the battle of Jacinto. He was on the personal staff of Jefferson Davis and was with President Davis when the latter was captured. He will be buried here.

Henry Truitt Share, New York.

New York, June 22.—Henry Truitt Share, the newspaper artist, is dead at his home in Flatbush. He was born fifty-two years ago in Los Angeles, Cal.

Edward Daugherty, Huntsville, Ala.

Huntsville, Ala., June 22.—(Special.)—Edward Daugherty, of Huntsville, died yesterday. He was 68 years old. His wife and four children survive, the latter being Mrs. Sullivan, Edward and Charles Daugherty and Miss Mary Daugherty.

W. I. Love, Birmingham, Ala.

Birmingham, Ala., June 22.—Deputy Sheriff W. I. Love, one of the best known officials in the state, died this morning in Hot Springs, Ark. Mr. Love has for many years been official hangman of Jefferson county, and he has adjusted the noose about the necks of twenty-seven men who have been executed in the county.

The last man executed by Love was Frank Duncan, one of the most famous outlaws the state has ever produced. Duncan escaped from jail after the death sentence had been pronounced and was at large for two years. He was finally captured in Florida and brought back to Birmingham to pay the death penalty.

TRUITT GETS THE CONTRACT

Will Supply the City of Atlanta With Coal for the Next Six Months.

The bid of S. M. Truitt & Son to supply the city of Atlanta with coal for the next twelve months, was yesterday accepted by the finance committee of council in preference to the bids of some eighteen or more competitors. Both price and quality was made the basis upon which the bids were considered.

The bid of the Truitts was $3.33½; for Jellico lump; $2.60 for the "run of the Jellico delivered; $2.34 for the same, f.o.b. cars Atlanta, and $2.25 for Jellico nut slack. The city will use all these various kinds of coal on which bids were made, some for heating and some for steam purposes.

The amount of coal used by the city annually usually aggregates something like 2,500 tons, of which about half is lump coal and about half steam coal. The action of the finance committee will be formally ratified by council at the next meeting of that body.

The aldermanic board held a short session in the council chamber yesterday afternoon, concurring in all acts of Monday's session of council. These were all of minor importance.

During the morning Mayor Woodward signed a warrant for $94,523.75 to pay interest due on outstanding bonds of the city of Atlanta. In the course of the day these coupons were paid off, and burned at the Maddox-Rucker bank.

COHN TURNS ON OIL CONCERN

Alleges the Waters-Pierce Company Tried to Ruin Him.

St. Louis, Mo., June 22.—J. H. Cohn, a former employee of the Waters-Pierce Oil company, against which concern, together with the Standard Oil company, and the Republic Oil company, Attorney General Haley, of Missouri, has instituted suit to revoke their charters, was recalled today at the hearing of the case before special Commissioner Anthony, for the purpose of cross-examination by former Judge Priest, attorney for the defendant corporations.

Cohn yesterday testified for the state regarding the methods the Water-Pierce company. When today questioned relative to the business of his present employers, he refused to answer, on the ground that it would violate 'trade secrets." Judge Priest then asked Mr. Cohn why he was not equally scrupulous about the "trade secrets" of the Waters-Pierce company, and the witness replied that, after he had left the employ of the Waters-Pierce company the latter had tried to ruin his reputation and deprive him of the means of making a living.

SLY MOVE MADE BY CASTRO

Establishes New Port to Cut Receipts at La Guaira.

Washington, June 22.—The state department has received official advices of the establishment of a custom house at Carenero, Venezuela, about 75 miles east of La Guaira, Venezuela, by decree of President Castro of that country, dated May 22. The action has aroused intense interest here, in view of the fact that it will very materially diminish the hypothecated customs of La Guaira, just as the port of Porto Cabello was affected in less degree by the recent establishment of Tuscacas as a port of entry, and the returns of which will be still further lessened by the opening of an adjacent custom house at Ocumara de La Costa.

Thirty per cent of the customs revenue of the ports of La Guaria and Porto Cabello is pledged to the creditors of Venezuela.

The Washington Post, noting with approval The Constitution's plea for the abolition of the legislative free pass in Georgia, takes occasion to severely condemn the same abuse by members of congress and other federal officials, declaring:

"The country will not hear the last of the humiliating talk of undue influence of corporations in high places while congressmen and their families and hundreds of other officials of the general government, as well as the state and municipal governments, are continually touring over the country on free passes. It is an evil that has long cried aloud for abolition. Under conditions now existing as to relations of railroads to the government and the people, the demand and the necessity for the extinction of this reproach are intensified. We hope the Georgia legislature will do its share in this good work thoroughly well and that congress will not be blind to so wholesome an example."

Mr. Peabody and the University.

Georgia has always been singularly fortunate in the possession of sons unselfishly devoted to the furtherance of her welfare; men of personality big enough to enable them to see in clear perspective their duty to the state as well as to themselves, and to discharge each with equal fidelity. In an emphatic degree this breadth of mind and spirit has marked the attitude of the alumni of the University of Georgia toward their alma mater, and it has unquestionably been responsible for the sustained quality of excellence which has made that institution the training-school of many of the great men of Georgia.

But here is a man who, not even an alumnus of the university, has been one of its most constant benefactors; whose material interests, for many years, have been elsewhere than in Georgia; whose income is not the product of Georgia mines or fields or factories; who has nothing tangible to gain by his benefactions and who, contrary to the spirit of the times, is adverse to having them blazoned in the black type of the daily newspaper; whose single motive is love for and pride in the state which gave him birth and a never-sleeping desire to see its people and institutions aspire to the highest plane within their reach—

George Foster Peabody.

His name is by no means new to the people of this state; it is now our wish, in all earnestness and in all moderation, to emphasize his career and his quiet philanthropy as furnishing the true definition of the lover of native state and native people, and the broadest possible inspiration to those who have at heart both the objective and subjective development of Georgia.

As we have stated, had Mr. Peabody been an alumnus of the university, his substantial fealty would have been readily comprehensible. The latter must have been ascribed to the purest, most patriotic of motives, thus constituting one of the most notable and unique incidents in the annals of educational philanthropy. But he never attended the university.

During the last year alone his donations to the university approximate almost $100,000. He has followed attentively the agitation for an extension of the university's capacity, which would include the addition of a practical agricultural college, and the movement has had his hearty approval. It was as his guests that a large party of the trustees of the university last winter made an excursion to the University of Wisconsin, Mr. Peabody's plan being to acquaint them with the splendid results obtained by the model agricultural department of that institution.

When, within the last month, the movement for the university extension began to focalize, he straighway offered $20,000 toward the consummation of the project. It need not be stated that the enthusiasm of the university's alumni was given fresh impetus by this action. Through careful management and persistent effort the alumni has accumulated a cash fund of $40,000. This they unanimously voted to combine with the Peabody gift, as a temporary loan, to make possible the speedy completion of the deals now on foot for the extension. The alumni fund of $40,000 soon reverts to its owners, who will then combine it with the $35,000 to be raised by the Young Men's Christian Association, the two to be put into the construction of a $75,000 Alumni Young Men's Christian Association gymnasium and hall for the students.

The Constitution believes that the task of accumulating the requisite $35,000, of completing the university extension project and of materializing the plan for an adequate agricultural adjunct, will be readily discharged. Certainly it will be, if the people of this state read the inspiration which lies in the unostentatious devotion of Mr. Peabody. Surely if Georgia has such a potent grasp of the fidelity and generosity of a son who has long lived outside her borders, her influence on those who are to reap the immediate benefits of the mission in hand should be no less powerful.

In the full confidence that this belief will be vindicated, The Constitution hails with enthusiasm the opening of a newer and grander era for the University of Georgia.

Judge Adamson and the Tech.

The address of Hon. W. C. Adamson, congressman from the Fourth district, delivered at the commencement exercises of the Georgia Technological school yesterday was one of the ablest addresses of the Georgia commencement season.

The occasion was an inspiring one. The work done by this splendid institution appeals strongly to the pride and patriotism of all Georgians. This branch of the university stands in the front rank of those institutions of learning which aim to prepare their students for what might be called the practical, in contradistinction to the literary, professions, and it has done and is doing great work for Georgia. Its graduates are playing most important parts in that rapid development of the resources of this state and of the south which is rapidly placing this section in the front rank of industrial progress.

That the story of the Tech's work should prove an inspiration to Judge Adamson was, of course, to be expected. During his career in congress Judge Adamson has devoted much of his time and attention to the problem of the development of the south's resources, his position upon the commerce committee of the house of representatives bringing him in close touch with the practical side of legislation along these lines. His eloquent tribute to the Tech and his picture of the progress sure to come as the result of intelligent development of the south's resources were as true as they were sincere.

In paying eloquent tribute to the institution and its management, Judge Adamson voiced the sentiments of all the people of Georgia.

The Value of Sovereign Treatment.

It can certainly be said for Paul Morton that he has started his career, as practical head of the Equitable, right. His action in accepting the resignations of President Alexander and Vice President Hyde, and his avowed determination to hew to the line wherever else it may be necessary, indicate his realization of the necessity for sovereign treatment.

The wisdom of his policy is emphasized by the disclosures in the report of Insurance Superintendent Hendricks made public yesterday. It is unnecessary to repeat the details of these disclosures, as they to some extent go over the matters covered in the Frick report, but reading them, there can be no question in the mind of any man that the purpose of the investigators has been to get at the facts without fear or favor, and that is what the policy holders in the company have been demanding. If there has been the slightest disposition on the part of Superintendent Hendricks to "whitewash" anybody, it certainly is not apparent. As a matter of fact, this official of the state of New York is to be commended for the thoroughness of his investigation, just as the gentlemen acting for the board of directors of the company—known as the Frick committee—were to be commended.

The policy holders in the company have been entitled to the fullest and most complete exposure of misdoing on the part of officials, and of the frenzied-finance methods which have prevailed in the past. That the soundness of the company's policies and contractural obligations could not be questioned has been apparent from the beginning; but the seriousness of the charges relative to the manipulation of the company's funds by officials in a way to build up private fortunes has caused unrest in the minds of policy holders, and naturally.

The final result of the present agitation is bound to be beneficial to the policy holders of this company, and indirectly to the whole business of life insurance. If methods similar to those in the Equitable have been resorted to, as charged, by the big financiers in control of any of other great insurance companies, the Equitable investigation is bound to call a halt to such practices. The inevitable result, as we see it, will be a tendency toward greater conservatism in management and methods which will be beneficial to all policy holders.

Whether congress, following the recommendations of President Roosevelt, will feel called upon to take a hand is yet to be determined. There are two sides to this as to every other question. Some insurance men of national prominence favor federal supervision, others take equally strong stand against it.

However, there seems every reason to warrant the belief that not only will the upheaval in the Equitable be of value to the policy holders in that company, but also that the discussion thus precipitated will lead to the closest possible safeguarding of the interests of policy holders in all the companies, and in matters bearing upon life insurance the interest of the policy holder must be the first consideration.

The Barbecues of Lee.

'Tis a plea from Lee to Teddy,
And the governments that be:
There's a lot of hidden dangers
For the barbecues of Lee
They're our only recreation
From a life beset with toil,
But we're bound to catch the dickens
If they keep a raisin' oil!

It's the only consolation
When the chiggers start the ball:
Crush the Standard! It is forcing
Barbecues to take the wall;
It is money for the nigger,
And the grass is got the crop;
It's a dollar here and yonder
And the barbecues'll stop.

If the oil for our anointing
Isn't cheaper, seems to me
That the barbecue's in danger,
In the summer land of Lee;
There are freely, flowing waters—
But the chigger gives a grin:
You may rub with sandy paper,
But the chiggers burrow in.

We have held the "cue" as sacred
In the grassy land of Lee;
We could never see them lessened,
And we file a little plea:
Make them cut the prices, Teddy,—
Let them own the sea and soil,
But we ought to buy it cheaper—
When we need a lot of oil!

We've the hogs, and salt, and pepper—
Lots of meal, and fish, and lard;
Plenty rations, little money,
And it goes a little hard
To be forced to sit in shadows
When the lights are out, and you
In your poverty are saying
Oil enough to run the "cue!"

VISITED SOUTH GEORGIA

Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Fussell Have Returned From an Enjoyable Outing.

Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Fussell have returned from an extensive trip to south Georgia, where they were entertained in a lavish manner by their many friends. Their trip extended over a period of two weeks, and they visited a number of points in south Georgia.

At Cordele they visited Mr. Fussell's parents. They spent a day at Lithonia, with L. C. Fussell on the big turpentine farm of E. Barber & Co. At Rhine they were the guests of W. C. Mohlay and Henry Gentry, formerly of Atlanta; at Milam they were entertained by Dr. H. S. Mohlay; at China Hill they spent the day with A. J. Boni; at Temperence they were the guests of Dr. J. H. Mohlay and T. F. Fussell. They also visited Savannah and Tybee island.

"The residents of south Georgia are the most hospitable people in the world," said Mr. Fussell, in speaking of his trip. "They are open hearted and make the stranger feel at home. There is nothing too good for their guests. I found the people particularly interested in the governor's race, and my friends and the majority of those I met were for Clark Howell. The country is prosperous and the people seem to be enjoying good times."

LETTERS FROM PEOPLE.

Card from Judge Sheffield.

Editor Constitution: In your issue of today (June 21) I note an article by E. L. Parker, in which he attempts to quote an interview with me on the subject of the new county of Griggs. I write to correct a part of that so-called interview. Mr. Parker came in with another gentleman to see me at my residence the evening he was here. After some little talk we got onto the new county question.

I told him that I was opposed to newspaper write-ups; that I did not think the people read them very much, or that they had much weight with members of the legislature, and that I had no doubt but that the new county matter would be referred to a committee, and they would hear all the parties who wanted a new county, and they would give the new counties to such places as had the most merit. I had a good deal to talk with him about the new county of Griggs, and stated to him a number of reasons why our people wanted it. It was a mere conversation. I did not see his report of it until it was published in your paper. I am sorry that he did not submit that part of it which he quotes from me to me before letting it go into the paper. He quotes me about correctly on a few things and misquotes me widely on quite a number of things.

I have no doubt he heard what he published from some of our people, but as he talked with a number of our people, made no notes, and, as I presume, afterwards attempted to reduce to writing what each man said, he considerably mixed it. I certainly did not say one-half the things attributed to me. He may have heard all he said while here, but I shall have to enter a denial to much of it so far as I am concerned.

A Traveling Man's Criticism.

Editor Constitution: For some days I have contemplated writing an open letter to The Constitution along the same lines so ably handled by Mrs. K. I. C., viz., the decadence of chivalrous sentiment, to an extent that might justly be termed indecency. I wish to go further, however, and call to your attention the open and flagrant violation of a most wholesome law, viz., the use of profane and indecent language in the presence of ladies or children. This violation is so universal that it is not unusual to hear our law officers being guilty of same.

Why the law failed to make it a misdemeanor to use profane or indecent language in the presence of gentlemen I fail to understand, but a "half loaf is better than no bread" and I earnestly solicit the aid of The Constitution in bringing about a revival of the sentiment that will at least enforce the law as it stands.

MINISTERS ARE ENTERTAINED

Were the Guests of Walter Brown at "New Canaan" Yesterday.

The Baptist ministers of Atlanta had yesterday one of the pleasant outings which they have enjoyed for some time. Through the kindness of Hon. Walter R. Brown they were carried to his country place, "New Canaan," and there entertained by nature and a sumptuous repast, not to mention the hundreds of fresh and flowing "ministerial jokes."

The party left Atlanta early in the morning, and went direct to the point of recreation under the personal direction and pilotage of Hon. Walter R. Brown.

When the time for return came all were universal in their praise of Mr. Brown as a genial host and splendid entertainer.

Among the ministers invited were:

Mr. J. T. Baxter, Rev. O. J. Copeland, Rev. Mr. Pyle, Rev. Malcolm MacGregor, Rev. J. E. Briggs, Rev. J. F. Edens, Rev. D. W. Gwin, D. D., Rev. J. L. D. Hillyer, Rev. J. E. Daniel, Rev. George A. Adams, Rev. T. P. Bell, Rev. W. H. Bell, Rev. S. Y. Jameson, D. D., Rev. W. H. H. Rorsey, Rev. A. T. Spalding, D. D., Rev. R. L. Motley, Rev. W. W. Landrum, D. D., Rev. J. E. White, D. D., Rev. T. G. Davis, Rev. W. L. Head, Rev. Len G. Broughton, D.D., Rev. B. D. Gray, Rev. A. C. Ward, D. D., Rev. W. A. Rabb, D. D., Rev. V. C. Norcross, D. D., Rev. S. A. Cowan, Rev. J. F. Purser, Rev. M. H. Lane, D. D., Rev. J. K. Pace, D. D., Rev. J. Parry Lee, Rev. J. M. Spinks, Rev. J. H. Weaver, Rev. W. F. Burdett, Rev. C. A. Barton, Rev. C. B. Vaughn, Rev. E. H. Peacock, Rev. Julien S. VISITORS AT THE CAPITOL

Prominent Men From All Sections Were Seen About the Building Yesterday.

Among the signs that this is to be a lively session of the general assembly is the number of prominent Georgians who call daily at the capitol. On yesterday there was quite a little company of them seen about the building and in the various offices during the day.

Congressman Adamson was among the number. He was a caller at the office of Governor Terrell, with whom he was engaged in conversation for some time. He stated, however, that it was merely a friendly call, and declared that his presence at the state house had no political significance whatever.

Among the others were Senator W. C. Bunn, of the thirteenth district, and Hon. J. C. Knight, representative from Polk county in the next house. Senator Bunn is a leading attorney of Cedartown, and one of the popular men of his section of the state. He has served in the senate before. Representative Knight is a prominent merchant, also of Cedartown. This will be his first term as a legislator.

Hon. E. B. Trammell, who will represent Harris county in the next house, was another prominent visitor. He called at the governor's office and elsewhere in the capitol. Hon. John D. Pope, solicitor of the city court of Albany, was also a state house visitor.

Hon. Dudley M. Hughes, president of the Georgia Agricultural Society, and commissioner general from this state to the exposition at St. Louis, was busy most of the day in the office of Commissioner of Agriculture O. B. Stevens, where he was engaged in the task of shaping up his report as commissioner general to the big fair, in which capacity he, with his associates, achieved such signal success.

Yellow Fever on Isthmus.

Washington, June 22.—Governor Magoon has reported to the bureau of insular affairs the following new cases of yellow fever in the canal zone:

James Morgan, negro policeman, Panama; Russell Viditor, American, non employe, Panama; Felipe Echevirra, Colombia, non employe, Colon; John R. Williams, American, clerk, Panama.

CITY SCHOOL DISTRICTS CHANGED BY THE BOARD

Rearrangement Made in Order to Even the Attendance in the Crowded Territories—Other Matters Were Acted Upon.

MANY important changes were made in the school districts for next year at the regular monthly meeting of the board of education yesterday afternoon.

Out of the ten members who compose the board, seven were present at the meeting yesterday. The question of getting bids on supiles and repair work on the furnaces for next year was referred to the finance committee. Dr. L. P. Stephens, chairman of the athletic committee, read the report of Dr. Toepel, physical director in which he recommends that an assistant be appointed to assist him in work among the grammar schools. Referred to committee on schools and teachers with instructions to make report at the next meeting.

Drawing in schools was discussed at length, and the board decided to hold a special meeting at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning to dispose of the matter. At that time, the board will hear from the representatives of the different drawing systems interested.

E. M. Mitchell, chairman of the committee on Bell street school annex, reported that $4,000 had been secured from council for that purpose and the work was already well under way. He also reported that work was progressing nicely with the Davis street school annex.

The committee on making changes in the boundary line was composed of E. P. Burns, chairman, superintendent, and assistant superintendent of schools. Their report was adopted.

The following are the changes in school districts:

Those portions of the Calhoun and the William street schools north of Ponce de Leon avenue from city limits to Myrtle street and Third street and east of Orme street, including both sides of portion of Ponce de Leon avenue named above and Third street, assigned to Tenth street school.

All territory north of East avenue, west of Randolph, and north of Dallas, transferred from Boulevard school district to Calhoun district.

Block bounded by Auburn avenue, Fort street, Edgewood avenue, and Butler street, transferred from the Bell street school district to the Ivy street school district.

The territory between Fort street, Edgewood avenue, Boulevard and Auburn avenue, transferred from the Bell street school district to the Boulevard school district.

The territory between Boulevard, Auburn avenue, Southern R. R. and Edgewood avenue, transferred from the Edgewood avenue school district to the Boulevard school district.

The territory between the Georgia R. R. and Tennelle and Wylie streets, (including both sides of Tennelle and Wylie streets) for first, second, and third grades, transferred from Grant Park school district to Edgewood avenue school district.

That portion of the Fraser street school district bounded by Pryor street, Georgia Avenue, Central avenue, and Dodd avenue transferred to the Formwalt street school district.

The territory between Windsor street, Glenn street, Cooper street, and Tennessee avenue transferred from the Formwalt street school district to the Ira street school district.

The territory between Tennesse avenue, Pryor street, Hendrix avenue, and Cooper street, transferred from the Ira street school district to the Formwalt street school district.

That portion of the West End school district north of Gordan and Glenn streets and east of Lee and Dunn streets assigned to the Lee street school for first, second, and third grades.

The territory between Whitehall and Forsyth streets from Brotherton street north to railroads transferred from Crew street school to Walker street school district.

Following are the school districts in full as changed:

IVY STREET SCHOOL.

Beginning at West Peachtree and Porter place, Porter place to Forrest avenue, Forrest avenue (both sides) to Fort, to Edgewood avenue, Edgewood avenue to Pryor, Pryor to railroad, railroad to Spring street, Spring to Harris, Harris to Peachtree, Peachtree and West Peachtree to Porter place at beginning.

The superintendent's office is open every day from 9 to 12 and from 3 to 5 o'clock, except Saturday afternoon, for the purpose of issuing transfers and new admission tickets.

INDIANS ROBBED OF $200,000.

Great Steal in Connection with Chickasaw Warrants.

Muscogee, Ind. T., June 22.—It is alleged that a steal in connection with the payment of Chickasaw warrants has been discovered which will outrival the famous warrant steal and may involve a fugitive banker of Tishomingo and men high up. The amount cannot be determined, but it is between $100,000 and $200,000.

This sum represents Chickasaw, school warrants that were paid and afterwards refloated. One firm in St. Louis, it is understood, has about $60,000 worth of these warrants and some of them are known to have come through a combination of which Kirby Purdom, the absconding banker of Tishomingo, was said to be the leading spirit. A large number of these warrants are thought to be fraudulent.

The grand jury is making an investigation.

Thieves Secure $23,000.

New York, June 22.—Under the guise of telephone inspectors, two men are reported by the American to have robbed the country home of a prominent corporation lawyer, doing business in New York and Boston. Diamonds and other jewelry of the intrinsic value of $23,000 but of inestimable value as heirlooms, were secured by the thieves. A reward of $1,000 has been offered.

Cities Can't Be Merged.

Philadelphia, June 22.—The supreme court today issued a permanent injunction restraining the merging of the cities of Pittsburg and Allegheny City.

Force of Habit.

(From The Chicago Tribune.)

The near-sighted printer on the Iowa paper glanced at the dimly written dispatch pertaining to the war in Manchuria and went ahead putting it in type.

"I guess it's all right," he muttered, "but I didn't know he was mixed up in that fuss, too."

This is why, on account of careless proofreading, "Liao Yang peninsula" appeared in print next morning as "Lafe Young's peninsula."

Natural Mistake.

(From The Houston Post.)

"Those rags must have smoldered quite a while before they broke into a blaze; did you smell nothing?"

"Yes, we smelt it," acknowledged Farmer Harrow, "but M'ria 'lowed it was that young feller from the city smokin' cigarettes in his room."

The Real Thing.

"A horseshoe is supposed to be a sign of good luck."

"And so it is," replied the sport, "if it goes under the wire first on your horse."

REDUCTION IN RATES SHOWS A BIG SAVING

Commissioner Brown Issues Report Showing Effect of Reductions.

INTER AND INTRA STATE RATES ARE REVIEWED

Report Was Compiled at Request of Commission and Gives a Clear Idea of What Has Been Accomplished—Report in Full.

Just what practical effects have been accomplished by the recent cut in freight rates made by the state railroad commission is strikingly shown in a statement compiled by Commissioner Joseph M. Brown in accordance with a resolution adopted several weeks ago by the commission.

In this statement, in which the situation is dealt with in full detail, it is shown that nearly $1,000,000, or to be exact, $912,000, are annually saved to the shippers of the state by reason of the promulgation of the new rates.

This is accomplished by an average saving of $12.50 on the 73,000 cars of the commodities affected by the reductions, shipped during each year.

In addition to this accomplishment of the commission's the writer of the statement calls attention to the fact that negotiations are now pending which in all probability will end in still further reduction on other articles, increasing to a still more marked extent the savings to the shippers of the state.

In his statement Commissioner Brown discusses the situation from the standpoints of the different cities, as well as with regard to the state generally, and every line of the entire article is of unusual interest to everyone in any way interested in shipping matters or freight rates.

The resolution of the commission in accordance with which Commissioner Brown prepared his statement was as follows:

"Atlanta, Ga., June 8, 1905.

"Be it resolved by the commission, that a report be prepared showing the results as near as can be approximated of the recent reductions in freight rates, both interstate and intrastate, in so far as the same affect the commerce in Georgia.

"It is further resolved that Commissioner Joseph M. Brown be requested to compile and file this report.

"J. P. BROWN, Chairman.
"GEORGE F. MONTGOMERY, Sec."

Mr. Brown's Report.

The full report follows:

"To the Railroad Commission, Atlanta, Ga.:

"IN READJUSTMENT OF FREIGHT RATES.

"In accordance with the resolution adopted by the commission at its meeting on June 8, I beg to submit the following report:

"The records show clearly the status of the matter in point up to the withdrawal by the commission of circulars 301 and 302, and the consequent withdrawal of their appeal to the court by the railway companies, coupled with their agreement to readjust the rates which the railroad commission deemed unjust to communities in Georgia.

"Pending this readjustment, I, as the representative of this commission, furnished to the railway officials who had charge of the negotiations tables of figures showing the inequitable adjustment of the interstate and intrastate rates. These tables showed that from Ohio river points to Atlanta, for instance, the rates on some classes of freight were higher per ton per mile than from the same points to Chattanooga, a shorter distance. They also showed that the railway companies had changed the intrastate rates in Georgia, i. e., the standard tariff of the railroad commission, without regard to the equities between the cities; for examples, the first-class rate having been reduced from Savannah to Athens, 31 cents per hundred pounds; from Savannah to Columbus, 27 cents per one hundred pounds; from Savannah to Rome, 36 cents per one hundred pounds; from Augusta to Rome having been reduced 37 cents per one hundred pounds, and from Augusta to Columbus 30 cents per one hundred pounds, while from Atlanta to Athens and Rome no reduction had been made, and from Atlanta to Columbus a reduction of 2 cents only. Rates on other classes were correspondingly made. Between various other cities in Georgia the equilibrium of this commission's rates had been seriously disturbed.

Reduction of Interstate Rates.

"Without going into tedious details, I will state that the traffic officials advised me that, after the withdrawal by the railroad commission of circulars 301 and 302, the largest meeting held for many years by the executive officers of the railways assembled in New York, early in December, 1904, which resulted in an order to the traffic officials to come to Atlanta, and, if possible, satisfy the railroad commission.

"The negotiations which ensued were held through the medium of what was popularly termed the 'Oglesby committee,' and resulted in a reduction to Atlanta from Ohio river points on the classes of freight as follows, in cents per 100 pounds:

Classes—	1	2	3	4	5	6	A	B	C	D	E	H	F
	9	5	3	5	4	5	0	2	6	2	0	8	4

"The above reductions apply on all the 3,082 items of freight included in those classes, except classes A and E, moving through Ohio and Mississippi gateways from Kansas City, Chicago, Ills., Cleveland, Ohio, and Pittsburg, Pa., and the populous regions between the extreme points named.

"The same reductions to Atlanta were made on classes 1 to 6, inclusive, from Baltimore, New York, Boston and all other eastern cities, and reductions in class rates were also made from Virginia cities, and on various commodities shipped from eastern and western trading centers, and from Virginia cities to Georgia points.

"Reductions, generally to a smaller degree, were made coordinately from the same eastern and western trading centers to other cities in this state. The greater degree of reduction to Atlanta was by reason of the fact it was conceded that this city had been for years 'the pinnacle of rates' in the southeast and that it could not be held that she must continue to pay on the numbered classes the same rates from western points as from these points to, say, Augusta and Macon, while the latter two cities paid less rates from the east than did Atlanta. And the reductions to Georgia points in general were justified because the interstate rates to Georgia points averaged higher than to any state adjoining her.

"Let us make a few practical applications of these reductions:

	Article.	Carload weight.	Cts. per 100 lbs. reduced.	Reduction per car.
1st.	Dry goods.	35,000	9	$31.50
2d.	Matting	40,000	5	20.00
3d.	Shot (boxed)	50,000	3	15.00
4th.	Wall paper	40,000	5	20.00
5th.	Paint	50,000	4	20.00
6th.	Paper	40,000	5	20.00
B	Bacon	35,000	2	7.00
C	Flour, sacked	50,000	6	30.00
D	Grain, hay	50,000	2	10.00
H	Whisky	25,000	8	20.00

Average reduction per car load of above..... $19.35

Reductions of Interstate Rates.

"After the above reductions took effect, on February 1, the commission took up with the railway officials the question of a revision of the intrastate rates. Some weeks were consumed in negotiations which were ended in a great measure by the publication, taking effect May 20, of reduced rates between Atlanta, Macon, Savannah, Columbus and other Georgia cities and trading centers to which interstate rates had been reduced.

"Without going into extended details, it may be stated that if we take Atlanta as the illustration and only 30,000 pounds as the average weight per car—and the great majority of cars are now loaded heavier—the rates on first-class freight were reduced per car to Columbus $36, to Macon $21, to Athens $24, to Hawkinsville $18, to Milledgeville $9, to Thomasville $27, to Valdosta $72. The rates on the other classes were of course reduced by smaller figures, as were the rates between other points in Georgia. Since the rates apply not only to car load shipments but also to package shipments, it is safe to say that, reducing them to a car load basis, we will find that the reductions will average $10 per car.

Rates Reduced Throughout Georgia.

"As, therefore, $12.50 per car is certainly a conservative estimate of the average interstate and intrastate reductions of the freight rates in Georgia between February 1 and May 20, inclusive, their application to the reports of cars moved in Georgia, on the basis of last year's report of the car service bureau, will no doubt prove of interest. I therefore place in the columns which follow, first, the total number of cars handled at the points named during 1904, and secondly, the number estimated to have moved from and to the points and in the classes covered by the reduced rates. The figures in the second column do not include coal, lumber, cotton or other freight not affected by the reduced rates, nor freights from local stations or other points from which no reductions were made.

	Total Cars.	Covered by Reduced Rates.
Atlanta	108,176	35,000
Augusta	30,429	5,000
Athens	8,948	2,000
Columbus	22,840	3,500
Macon	45,002	7,000
Rome	13,901	2,500
Savannah	81,689	.....
Brunswick	46,009	.....
Other stations	.....	18,000
Total		73,000

"To Savannah and Brunswick no reduced rates were made in the interstate tariff by the railway companies; but from those two cities reductions were made to centers in the state. Hence, including these two cities with the majority of the 1,100 other railroad stations in Georgia whose interstate rates base on the cities to which reductions were made and receive the same reductions per car as apply to thir base points—examples, Acworth receives the same reduction from the east that Atlanta does. Fort Valley receives the same reductions from the west that Macon does), we are certainly safe in estimating that they now receive the benefit of reduced rates on upward of half as many cars as does Atlanta, the storm center of the reduction.

"$912,500 per annum saved to the people of Georgia.

"We therefore see that at least 73,000 car loads per annum of freight in Georgia now get the benefit of less rates than was the case before February 1 of this year. This number multiplied by $12.50 shows $912,500 as the amount per annum of freight charges saved to the people of this state by the work of this commission with the railway companies.

"It is proper to state that, in making these estimates, the same rule cannot be applied to all of the cities. To Atlanta, for instance, comes and from Atlanta goes a much greater variety of business than to and from Augusta, Macon and Columbus; and the reduction in rates to and from Atlanta was greater per one hundred pounds than at any of the other cities; because, first, the interstate rates averaged higher to Atlanta than to any other southern city, and, secondly, the railway companies had already reduced the rates between all of the other cities in Georgia more than they had reduced them to and from Atlanta. The three other cities named have a much larger percentage of cotton included in their total traffic than has Atlanta, and cotton rates were not reduced. So, there are local causes not necessary to enumerate at Rome and Athens wherefrom this proportion of business affected by the new rates is not as great as Atlanta's. It has been necessary to take the total number of cars brought to the several cities by the different roads, as, partially, a basis for making the calculation. Some roads, for instance, bring a larger percentage of through business into Atlanta than do others. I have borne these various causes in mind, and have made it a point to underestimate the number of cars handled under the reduced rates rather than the reverse.

"In conclusion, I will state that negotiations are now pending in the matter of the rates on certain commodities manufactured in this state upon which I trust the commission and the railway officials will reach such agreement as will enable Georgia manufacturers to compete in Georgia on fair terms with the manufacturers of other states. When this end is reached, it can safely be asserted that our people in general will be able to handle business on fairer interstate and intrastate rates than has been the case for years. Respectfully submitted,

"JOSEPH M. BROWN,

PIKE'S TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

Will Be Held During Week Beginning July Second.

Barnesville, Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—Arrangements for holding the Pike county teachers' institute in Barnesville during the chautauqua week have been completed, and an excellent programme is being prepared for that occasion. The institute will be held the week beginning July 2. Miss Kathleen Baker, a graduate of Cornell university, who has been teaching for sometime past in Glasgow, Ky., has been engaged as expert for the week, and will be present. Professor W. G. Brown, of Zebulon, county school commissioner of Pike county, has made arrangements for several prominent speakers and educators during that event, and the session will be a very enjoyable one for the teachers. Hon. W. B. Merritt will address the body Friday afternoon. The institute will be largely attended owing to the fact that it will be held during chautauqua week and a number of teachers from elsewhere have signified their intention of coming to it.

WOOL SELLS FOR 32.55 CENTS

Is Highest Price Realized for Wool in Many Years.

Tifton, Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—Wool growers from Colquitt, Berrien, Worth and Irwin counties, met in Tifton this afternoon to dispose of their 1905 clip.

Bidders were on hand from Albany, Valdosta, Savannah and Tifton. Owing to the fact that many growers had already sold a portion of all of their clip at private sale, only 8,000 pounds was sold. This was bought by R. L. Khuchen, representing a Savannah firm, at 32.55 cents per hundred, or a total of over twenty-five hundred dollars for the lot, the highest price being realized for wool in many years. Another sale will be held here July 12.

Great Revival at Carrollton.

Carrollton, Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—The revival in progress here under the supervision of Rev. Mr. Dunaway has reached a point of great interest. Carrollton has never before had such a stirring up to spiritual things. All churches are cooperating in the work, and three times a day all stores close and attend the meetings. Much good is being done.

German-American Athletes.

There were 6,200 men in line in the festival parade, which was witnessed by over one hundred thousand people. The weather was ideal.

The physical contests began this afternoon at the state fair grounds. There were class and individual competition in apparatus work, model exercises by societies, and exercises by the boys of the Indianapolis gymnastic societies. At the German house there were song competitions by men's choruses, declamations and recitations. Concerts were given tonight with a mass chorus at the German house. A commers was given by Musik Verein in honor of the mass chorus.

FEDERATION PLEDGED TO EIGHT-HOUR EFFORT

Strong Resolutions Condemn Action of United Typothetae.

WOMEN DELEGATES A POWER ON FLOOR

Resolutions Adopted Calling for Investigation Locally of the Laws Governing Working Railroad Employes on Sunday.

While the many cities of the country were suffering from the heat in the way of casualties and fatalities, there was nothing more serious than discomfort in Atlanta, and while both the humidity and the temperature were high, those conditions had no effect on the attendance of the delegates at the convention of the Georgia Federation of Labor.

The hall in the Federation building, on Broad street, was well filled, and with the consent of the many ladies present, the shirt-waist man was created by a vote in which the ladies acquiesced.

But, more than all else, the dominant note that impressed every visitor was that of a firm belief and a great conviction in the heart of every member present respecting their inalienable rights as citizens of the world's greatest republic and the responsibility that rested upon them, not as citizens, but as the appointed delegates to act and voice the sentiments and the needs of many of their associates from the unions which they represented in the convention.

As for parliamentary rule, so general seemed the knowledge of parliamentary privileges and the construing of the convention and its constitution, that every one agreed that knowledge was causing delay in discussions where actions were the real business of the sessions, and when no less a delegate than a lady brought the attention of the delegates to this fact, other matters were considered and acted upon.

Both Sexes in Convention.

Coeducational conventions for the transacting of business in the interests of the workers are still too unusual to pass without some comment. That their influence is and has been a most salutary one was proved again and again. What if now and again they clalmed the floor—and got it—with a high and magnificent disregard for parliamentary rules, they never took the floor without it was to lend some good suggestion or state plainly some certain truth in a way that barred discussion.

Certainly this voice of the women was the great note of the convention. When they wanted to speak, they spoke, President Jones holding that it was impossible for any lady to be out of order, a ruling which if tyranically suggestive of the one-man rule of Russia, caused only the happiest of comment, and to many of the visitors it suggested that until capital took into its confidence and its conventions the leavening power of the so-called weaker sex, the labor organizations would just so long be able to prove their superiority in taking only such action as could secure the consent and support of their wives, their mothers and their sisters. The mere presence of these ladies was for the preservation of such order as only gntlemen would permit and even granted that there were times when these fair delegates failed to show supreme knowledge, a woman's intuition has got the best of a man's mere judgment too often to leave room for discussion as to which is the greater power.

Afternoon Session.

The afternoon session of the convention of the Federation of Labor was one in which resolutions were presented, and so much of the time of the session devoted to the discussion of parliamentary rules and procedure that 5 o'clock, the closing hour, arrived long before the business appointed for the session had been completed.

So constant and so prolonged were these debates regarding the rulings of the chair, President Jones having given way to Vice President M. J. Hagerty, of Savannah, that one of his rulings was appealed and the appeal sustained, President Jones later resumed his duties as presiding officer, but was not able to prevent the discussion of parliamentary technicalities until Mrs. William Robinson, one of the ladies representing Atlanta, said upon the floor that the men were wasting the time of the delegates and inferred that if the real matters at issue could be acted upon by the ladies there would be more action and less discussion. These remarks were received with the heartiest support, and for a time the convention applied itself to the work in hand.

Among the interesting questions brought up was that of the motion that the president of the Southern Baseball League be notified that unless the tickets printed for the games in 1906 bore the label of the allied trades, the games of the association would not be patronized. In the discussion, it was stated that this would mean practically a boycott and contrary to the rules of the American Fdeeration, and the motion was lost.

Eight-Hour Resolutions.

Easily first in importance were the following resolutions, which were passed unanimously with enthusiasm:

"Whereas, The International Typographical Union is at present engaged in agitating for an eight-hour workday for book and job printers, and preparing for its inauguration on January 1, 1906; and

"Whereas, The said International Typographical Union has repeatedly declared, and still declares, its willingness to meet with the United Typothetae of America for the purpose ofq agreeing upon the time and manner of inaugurating the eight-hour day in book and job offices, which declaration has been met by the United Typothetae of America with defiance and the statement that it will oppose and fight all efforts to establish an eight-hour day; and

"Whereas, On the successful outcome of the efforts being put forth by the International Typographical Union for the establishment of a universal eight-hour day for the printers depends to a great extent the success of similar movements in other industries; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That the Georgia State Federation of Labor, in convention assembled in the city of Atlanta, condemns the action of the United Typothetae of America in refusing to meet the officers of the International Typographical Union for the purpose of effecting a conciliatory settlement of the eight-hour question, and we request the said United Typothetae of America to rescind its former action and instruct its officers to meet with the representatives of the International Typographical Union for the purpose of settling the question in an amicable manner; and

"Resolved, That in the event of the failure of the United Typothetae of America to take such action we pledge to the International Typographical Union our moral support in its efforts to secure the eight-hour day; and

"Resolved, That should the International Typographical Union become involved in trouble through the inauguration of the eight-hour day on January 1, 1906, we pledge to it all financial assistance which it is in our power to grant, and, be it further

"Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the president of the International Typographical Union and the secretary of the United Typothetae of America; that copies be furnished to the daily and labor press of the city of Atlanta, and such of the labor papers of the southeastern states as can be conveniently reached.

Other business of the session included the raising of the salary of the secretary from $25 to $100 on account of the increase in his duties due to the tremendous growth of the organization.

The needs of the teamsters of Chicago and the principles for which they were striving were brought out and the voting of $25 on the part of the convention for helping the teamsters was passed without a dissenting vote.

Investigate Sunday Work.

Another resolution adopted was that presented by Delegate W. C. Puckett, which provided that the vice presidents of the federation in Savannah, Macon, Augusta and Columbus investigate the laws regarding the working of employees of the railroads on Sunday. The good that had resulted from a similar investigation in Atlanta was brought out in the discussion and the resolution was adopted unanimously.

The Ladies' Labor league of Savannah and their efforts in behalf of organized labor were made a subject both of resolutions and eulogy by Delegate Harris, of Savannah, and others.

The reply on the part of Delegate Weir thanking the convention for the passing of resolutions in behalf of the Typographical union and the remarks of Press Huddleston were among the features of the day.

Morning Session.

The morning session was a matter of but a few minutes, the feature being that the resolutions regarding child labor were introduced and it was thought that those resolutions would come up for action at the afternoon session, but routine business prevented. An adjournment was taken for the purpose of giving the many committees a chance to meet.

The resolutions applying to child labor were as follows:

By the delegation from the Atlanta Typographical Union, No. 48:

Resolved, That the Georgia Federation of Labor reaffirms heartily its well known position in regard to the heartless practice of slaving little children in the factories of Georgia, and in reaffirming our position, we emphasize our abhorrence and horror at such practice with all the fervor of a patriotic regard for the future of our fair state, which depends upon the mental and physical, as well as moral splendidness of her little ones, and in thus maintaining our position we embrace the occasion to vote hearty thanks to Hon. C. C. Houston, the union ex-member of the house for two terms, for his zeal in behalf of this measure, and we extend our hearty cooperation to Hon. Madison Bell in the championing of this bill before the last general assembly. Our future as a state depends upon our children and our children depend upon us.

Resolved further, That we instruct and earnestly urge the officers of the state body, as well as the legislative committee to cooperate with all the influences that will be brought to bear in the coming session of the general assembly in favor of the child labor bill.

PROFESSOR ANDREW J. BURRUSS

A Loving Tribute to His Memory by Dr. G. A. Nunnally.

(From The Christian Index.)

A good man gone. I am sure your readers will pardon this intrusion of a personal bereavement, for his death is also a public loss. Fifty years ago I met him, fresh from Richmond college. I sat at his feet; he prepared me for college. When I had finished my college course he would have me associated with him in school work. He was a master in the academy, text-book and boy being equally understood by him. Much that I am I owe to him. Afterwards I became his pastor and he my deason. He continued to teach. He possessed in a high degree that rare gift. For a half century he taught the boys and girls; he trained their minds, he inspired their zeal, and he lifted them to a high plane. Thousands passed under his careful training and went out into life to fill some station to the good of humanity and to the glory of God. And every one that stood before him in the class room, if living, holds him in sweet remembrance—and if dead, they welcome him to the Father's house.

As a teacher he aimed at making his students efficient and precise, but more, his efforts were to bring them up to a full grown stature and fit them for life, for service and for God. He was unselfish to a fault and would rob himself to relieve another. He was considerate, conservative and kind. He followed the Son of Mary, going about doing good. In all our transactions, business, social, educational, religious, there was never a jar or a misunderstanding. His boys and girls—those he taught—in all the walks of life, stand up today to honor his memory and drop a tear upon his casket and a flower on his grave. Summoned home at midnight, April 29, he was with his Father at the dawn and so rests from his labors, and his works will follow him. His companion, who walked at his side for fifty years, and some honored children survive him. They have our sympathy—but they have a much richer legacy, the noble record of the life of a man whose name they bear and whose virtues they will emulate and whose glory on some sweet day they will share, and like him, "be forever with the Lord."

Andrew, goodby, till we both shall sit at the Master's feet and learn more of His wisdom and goodness and love.

IMMERSED 45 IN 40 MINUTES

Rev. Mr. Reed, of Canton, Makes Record in Baptizing.

Canton, Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—The ten days' revival services at the Baptist church closed last night with a congregation overflowing the house of worship. The pastor, Rev. L. T. Reed, was assisted by Rev. T. E. McCutchen, of Monroe. The preaching of these two faithful divines resulted in moving the town spiritually as never before.

There were seventy-five additions to the church, and last night Pastor Reed immersed forty-five candidates in forty minutes. The new pool at the rear of the church was used for the first time.

CHEROKEE AND PICKENS UNITE.

Teachers' Institute Will Be Held at Canton This Time.

Canton, Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—The combined teachers' institute of Cherokee and Pickens county holds its week's session in Canton next week, under the management of Commissioners Attaway and Henley. Professor and Mrs. G. Clinton Hanna are engaged as instructors, but will be assisted by other teachers from the two counties. During the week several entertainments and receptions will be given complimentary to the teachers and others visiting Canton.

NOT CANDIDATE FOR COMMANDER

Gen. McGlashan Will Not Again Head Georgia Veterans.

Savannah, Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—General P. A. S. McGlashan will not be a candidate for reelection to the post of commander of Georgia division of the United Confederate Veterans when the reunion of the state organization is held in Macon.

General McGlashan himself made this statement today. He said that the demands of the office are too severe, requiring too much of his time. It is his purpose to devote himself to confederate writings and feels that to carry out this purpose he will have to give up the command.

SOCIETY

Eubanks-Walraven.

THE wedding of Miss Sadie Eubanks and Mr. J. C. Walraven, which took place Tuesday evening, June 20, was one of the pretty affairs of the week. It occurred at the Tabernacle Baptist church in the presence of a large assemblage of friends, Dr. L. G. Broughton officiating.

To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Mrs. L. C. Bellingrath, the bridal party entered. First came the ushers, Mr. W. F. Watkins and Mr. W. V. Callahan, Mr. J. M. Swicegood and Mr. J. L. J. Hipps. Then came the bridesmaids, Miss Bessie Holley, Miss Nannie Smith and Miss Alva Garner, with the groomsmen, Mr. Walter Sloan, Mr. J. M. Wood, Mr. J. —. Watkins. The groom entered with his best man, Mr. J. J. Everett. The matron of honor, Mrs. Howell Parker, entered alone, while the maid of honor, Miss Mary Bramlett, preceded the bride, who entered with her father, Mr. T. F. Eubanks. The bridesmaids were gowned in white, and carried asparagus fern. The matron and maid of honor were also in white and carried armsful of white carnations.

The bride looked very fair and girlish in her silk wedding gown of white silk mull, trimmed with quantities of hand tucks and lace. Her bouquet was white sweet peas and her veil was caught with the same flowers.

After the ceremony the bridal party was entertained at the home of the bride's parents. Here the color scheme of green and white was still further carried out in the decorations and luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. Walraven left for a short bridal trip and after July 10 will be at home to their friends, corner North avenue and Plum street.

Gilleland-Bohler.

MISS MARY M. BOHLER and Mr. Elmer E. Gilleland were married the evening of June 21 by Rev. T. P. Cleveland at his residence.

Hay-Hill.

A PRETTY home wedding was that of Miss Carrie L. Hay and Mr. James S. Hill, which was solemnized at the home of the bride on Logan street last evening at 8:30. The ceremony was performed by Rev. M. L. Underwood in the presence of a few relatives and special friends.

The attendants were Miss Bertha Hill, maid of honor, and Miss Nannie Clark, bridesmaid; Mr. Lucius Greer was best man and Mr. B. C. Hays groomsman.

Miss Hay is a charming young woman. Mr. Hill is prominently connected in the business world, and is a young man highly esteemed by all who know him.

To Miss Wagener.

ONE of the prettiest of the many parties that have been given in compliment to Miss Pauline Wagener, an Atlanta bride-elect of this month was the card party and stocking shower at which Misses Lillian and Mildred Harris entertained yesterday morning at their home in West End.

The tables were placed on the wide, vine covered veranda and here the guests were entertained during the morning. Quantities of sweet peas, in pink and white were arranged in bowls and roses about the veranda and a cool and inviting appearance was given by the palms fearns and numerous other growing plants.

The combination of white and pink, the colors to be used at the wedding were carried out in the elabortate luncheon served after the game, as well as the other details of the party.

The first prize, a pair of silk stockings was won by Miss Willie Ferrell, of Gainesville, and the consolation a lovely colonial fan was won by Miss Alice May Rushton.

To the guest of honor was presented a large heart shaped box of pink tied with bows of pink satin ribbon and filled with dainty silk and embroidered stockings. Punch was served all during the game, Miss Young, wearing a pretty gown of white, presiding at the punch bowl.

Miss Lillian Harris wore a dainty lingerie waist and white voile skirt. Miss Mildred Harris wore a becoming gown of pale blue mull and lace. Miss Wagener wore a pink coat suit opening over a white lace waist. Mrs. J. D. Young, of Washington, D. C., was handsomely gowned in a white embroidered linen suit. Miss Young wore an all white gown. Miss Ferrel was gowned in pale green. Miss Lynn, of Indiana, was gowned in white. Mrs. Evelyn Harris wore a gown of white mull and lace. Mrs. Wagener wore blue mull applied with lace.

The guests invited to meet Miss Wagener were: Miss Nell O'Donnelly, Miss Alice May Rushton, Miss Lynn, of Indiana, Miss Norman, Miss Neila Bacon, of Eastman, Miss Nannie Stephens, Miss Rushie Ray, Miss Will Heath, Miss Mills, Mary Lou Culberson, Miss McGuire, Miss Cofield, Mrs. Arthur Merrill, Miss Brown, Miss Harper, Miss Wallace, Miss Susie May Pope, Miss Elizabeth Adair, Mrs. Marbut, Miss Abernathy, Mrs. Edward Wilson, Mrs. F. J. Spratling, Mrs. Young, of Washington, D. C., Mrs. Fred Wagener, Miss Alma Pope, Miss Hook, Miss Martha Wagener, Mrs. Luther Rosser and Mrs. Clifford Humphries.

Mrs. Robinson's Party.

MRS. BOYKIN ROBINSON entertained at bridge and tea at the Piedmont Driving Club yesterday afternoon in compliment to Mrs. Thomas Micajah Brumby, Jr., seventy-five guests enjoying Mrs. Robinson's hospitality.

The game of bridge began at 4 o'clock, the tables set in the New York building. The top score was made by Mrs. John Hill, a silver bon-bon dish; the second prize a silver card case was won by Mrs. John Clark, and the consolation prize, silver bodkins was won by Mrs. Harry Stearnes.

At the conclusion of the game, a delicious luncheon was enjoyed, the guests served at small tables on the porch.

Mrs. Robinson, the lovely hostess was beautifully gowned in cream colored batiste embroidered. With it she wore a coat of pale blue silk and lace. Her hat of pale blue straw was trimmed in lace and blue plumes.

The guest of honor Mrs. Brumby was handsome in white embroidered mull, her hat of white lace trimmed in flowers of the Dresden shades.

Assisting in the intertainment of the guests were Mrs. Charles Sciple, and Mrs. William Bailey Lamar.

Mrs. Sciple was exquisitely gowned in pale blue lisse, trimmed in medalions of white painted in pink roses.

Mrs. William Bailey Lamar wore a Parisian toilet of coral colored silk, the yoke and sleeves of lace. Her picture hat was of black trimmed in white plumes.

Attractive among the guests was Mrs. Robert Ridley, Jr., whose beauty and grace make her an acquisition to Atlanta's social world. She wore a pale gray silk gown trimmed in white lace and her hat of lace was trimmed in flowers.

Mrs. William H. Inman was beautiful in a lingerie gown of white mull and lace. Her hat of white lace was trimmed in ribbon of ciel blue and French roses.

Mrs. Archibald Davis wore a becoming toilet of white net, showing a design in pink flowers.

Mrs. Edward Inman wore a stylish toilet in pale blue mull, with hat to match.

Mrs. Robert J. Lowry's handsome gown was of cream colored mull hand embroidered and trimmed in Valenciennes lace.

Mrs. Robert F. Shedden wore a Frenchy toilet in white embroidered swiss elaborately trimmed in lace.

Mrs. Walter Taylor was a stylish figure in white mull and lace, her toque of white lace trimmed in a paradise aigrette.

Mrs. Hudson Moore was picturesque in white lisse painted in pink roses, her hat of white lace trimmed in pink.

Sweet peas of all colors were used as a graceful decoration in the New York building, bowls and vases of them placed on all sides.

Miss Robinson and Miss Hattie Fannie Gray presided at the punch bowl.

Coaching Party.

MR. RUSSELL HOPKINS entertained at a coaching party yesterday afternoon, ten guests meeting with him at the Piedmont hotel at 6 o'clock. Miss Janie Speer occupied the box seat, and was distinctly handsome in a lilac silk gown, with hat to match.

In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Beck, Misses Whitman, Miss Nellie Howell, Mr. Logan Clark, Mr. Travis Huff, Mr. Lynn Werner.

The party was entertained at luncheon, returning to the city at 8 o'clock.

At Home.

MR. AND MRS CLIFFORD ANDERSON gave the third of the series of informal receptions, at which they are delightfully entertaining their friends, last evening.

Their palatial home with its colonial columns and landscape gardens presented a picturesque appearance, electric lights and Japanese lanterns illuminating the grounds, and making veritable pictures of the guests assembling in groups in all parts of the grounds. An elegant supper was served on the lawn, Mrs. Anderson presiding with charming grace and wearing a becoming toilet in white chiffon and lace.

Epworth League.

IN the Sunday school room of the First Methodist church tonight the Epworth League of that church will give an interesting entertainment to which all friends are cordially invited. The following programme will be rendered:

At the close of the programme a free will offering will be taken to raise funds for the Wesley Memorial Hospital.

In Honor of Miss Cobb.

SOMETHING out of the ordinary was the phrenology and palmistry party given Wednesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bryan Harrison in compliment to Miss Caroline Cobb, of Athens.

Among the guests invited to meet Miss Cobb were Captain and Mrs. W. H. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Jones, Miss Alice Orr, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Baxter, Jr., Miss Adelaide Perkins, Miss Mary Ann Rucker, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Tolbert, Mr. and Mrs. Horace M. Collinsworth, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Barry, Miss Patsy Carroll, of North Carolina; Miss Clara Harrison and J. L. Harrison, Jr.

Professor Collette, the expert phrenologist and palmist, demonstrated these interesting sciences, and the young people enjoyed a most delightful evening. Dainty refreshments were served upon the spacious front porch.

CITY WILL BUILD A NEW RAILROAD

Carrollton Intends to Develop Trade of New Section.

Proposed Line Will Traverse Western Carroll, Heard, Randolph and Cleburne Counties in Alabama, Which Now Have No Railroad

Carrollton, Ga., June 29.—(Special.)—The board of trade of Carrollton yesterday unanimously decided to build a railroad from Carrollton in a westerly direction to traverse the section including western Carroll and Heard and Randolph counties and Cleburne county, Alabama, a section not yet traversed by a railroad.

This road is aided by the Central of Georgia, which has agreed to give the right of bridge over Buffalo creek, leading in the direction of Roopville.

This road will be built to preserve the Carrollton trade and commerce in this western territory which has been a source of large income to Carrollton for fifty years, and which is about to be traversed now by the Bremen and Southwestern, which, it is said, will run from Bremen, via Bowdon, to the mines in Gold Ridge, Ala. This line will probably be one of the best paying short lines in the world, as the resources of this large territory are vast at present, and will stand much development. The woodlands are heavily timbered by the best yellow pine in Georgia, besides a vast quantity of hard wood, as well as much very valuable mineral land and agricultural lands, that will equal any in Georgia and Alabama.

The project will be a seemingly great undertaking for Carrollton, but it is generally recognized that Carrollton is able to carry it out, and will do so. A committee was appointed to look to the furtherance of this undertaking, a committee which includes some of Carrollton's best business men and wealthiest citizens. A committee was also appointed to further the interests of the Carrollton board of trade.

IN THE COURTS.

Because he was physically injured in the yards of the Louisville and Nashville and the Atlantic Coast Line Railway companies in Atlanta, J. S. Jones, at that time an employee of the corporations, has brought suit against the companies indicated for $2,000, Arnold & Arnold appearing for the plaintiff. In the papers filed it is asserted that Plaintiff Jones was "breaking" a train in the companies' yards in Atlanta when he was, through negligence and recklessness of other employees of the company at that time directing and handling the train with which he was working thrown violently to the ground. The injuries said to have been sustained are minutely described, and $2,000 is demanded.

A double barrelled suit against the Louisville and Nashville railroad was filed in the Fulton superior court yesterday afternoon. J. M. Stephens being complainant in one, while his wife, Mrs. Lucy Stephens is complainant in the other. On account of wounds which were painful when inflicted and which have been troublesome since they were given a first surgical attention, and are now said to be permanent, J. M. Stephens asks for $2,000 as compensation for the hurts sustained at the time of the accident, and for the pain then and since endured and for the loss of time while his wife, Mrs. J. M. Stephens assesses her damages because of her husband's suffering and her consequent mental worry at the same sum. Arnold & Arnold are attorneys.

Declaring that a lick on the back, near that portion of the human makeup where the kidneys are located, has, for the present at least crippled him, George A. Elliott, of Atlanta, brings suit against his uncle, George W. Elliott, also of Atlanta, for $10,000. In the papers the complainant, giving 30 years as his age, declares that in a fit of temper his uncle, George W. Elliott, the defendant, hurled a brick at him. The missile coming with great velocity and with great force because of its weight, struck him violently in the back, over the kidneys, inflicting a painful hurt. Both parties reside in the western portion of the city, and it was in that neighborhood the episode happened. The difficulty took place on June 16th instant. Westmoreland & Bros. appear as attorneys for the plaintiff.

The Fulton county grand jury, responding to a call issued by C. D. Hill, solicitor general of the Fulton superior court, will convene in the grand jury apartments at the Fulton county court house this morning at 9 o'clock. The superior court will be adjourned on the first Monday in July and before that adjournment the grand jury presentments must be handed in to Judge Pendleton, of the Fulton superior court, civil branch. The presentments have been completed and it is for a completion of the official documents and a review thereof by the members of the grand jury that the session of today has been ordered. The existing grand jury has been a busy one and the official history it will present will be of interest. While there has been little of a sensational character since its organization the body has had lots to do and the work has been well down. Expert Accountant Alonzo Richardson has finished his examination of the county books in each office and has surrendered reports to that committee of the grand jury having that feature in hand. While nothing like a publication of his work has been made, it has been stated by a member of the committee that every officer of the county has done his work well and faithfully, and that not a defect of any nature has been found by the expert accountant. A complete resume of the coming presentments will make interesting and entertaining reading.

Administrators, executors and guardians are now handing Hon. John R. Wilkinson, ordinary of Fulton county, their annual reports of the conduct of estates which have been in their keeping since their qualification as to the trusts. Some of these reports are quite extensive, no few of them dealing with large sums of money. It requires a painstaking and lengthy investigation of these papers by the ordinary before they are filed away for future reference and use.

The criminal branch of the Fulton superior court, Judge Roan presiding, will not break its summer holiday until October, when the regular fall term will open. The session just closed was one remarkable in many ways, say the court house attaches who have been watching court sessions and court terms for years. Within the two weeks, about, of the term, nearly one hundred and fifty felony cases were disposed of, while more than that number of misdemeanors were rushed through. Five days were given to one hundred and five cases, some of them being cases of importance.

Because the defendant companies are non-residents of the state, a number of suits against corporations having offices in Atlanta which have been recently filed in the Fulton courts have been transferred to the United States court. Among the cases transferred were C. C. Turner against the Southern railroad, Mrs. S. C. Turner against the Southern, James B. Wilson against the Southern, G. B. Stoeber against the Southern, Lula Zeilens against the Southern, K. C. Banks against the Southern, John Rowzee against the Louisville and Nashville, Mrs. Elizabeth Rowzee against the Louisville and Nashville, Mrs. L. A. Hudson against the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, and Silas Lee against the Southern railway.

A DAINTY WHITE DRESS FOR GIRLS.

Produced by Peeress Pattern No. 2567.

Blouse effects are much liked for growing girls, and the dress here illustrated is of that order and has many new points. It has a broad, smooth bertha that extends in strap fashion to the waist in front, producing a very pretty effect. The skirt is full and tucked at the bottom, and the sleeves are in popular bishop style. While the mode is particularly suited to combinations, one material may be used throughout with good results.

The pattern is in 7 sizes—6 to 12 years. For a girl of 9 years, the dress, as represented, needs 3⅝ yards 36 inches wide with ⅞ yard of all-over goods 18 inches wide, 2¼ yards of wide and 1½ yards of narrow edging to trim; or, of one material, 7¼ yards 20 inches wide, 5¼ yards 27 inches wide, 4¼ yards 36 inches wide, or 3½ yards 44 inches wide.

Price, 10 Cents.

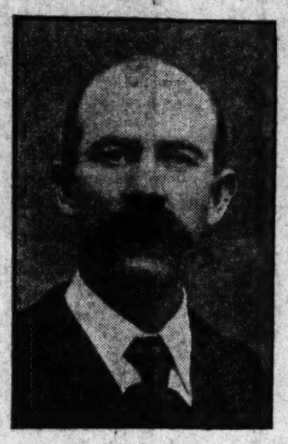
SHERIFF SEWELL BEING PRAISED

Henry County Officer Assisted in Suppressing Negro Riot.

McDonough, Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—The work of Sheriff A. C. Sewell, of Henry county, during the recent affair in which several negroes were arrested for riotous conduct on an excursion train, has attracted much attention, and the officer has been the recipient of much praise for his part in the suppression of the disturbance.



A. C. SEWELL,
Of McDonough, Sheriff of Henry County.

When, a short time ago, the grand jury, of Henry county, embodied in their presentments a warm tribute to the efficiency and executive ability of Sheriff A. C. Sewell, they gave expression to the feeling in which that worthy officer is held, not only by the court officials, but by the entire citizenship of Henry county.

Six years ago, "Uncle" Newt Glass decided to retire from the sheriff's office, after having completed sixteen years of faithful service. Mr. Sewell was selected for the position over two of the most popular men in the county, and since then his administration has measured up to the highest expectations of his friends and supporters. Mr. Sewell is ably assisted by Deputies John Mosely, of McDonough, and H. Turnipseed, of Hampton. With this trio of capable officials the people of Henry county feel assured that the responsibility for the preservation of law and order has been placed in good hands.

GREAT SUCCESS, IS CHAUTAUQUA

Dublin Continues Mecca of Those Searching for Good Things.

Dublin, Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—So far the fourth annual session of the Dublin chautauqua is proving an immense success. The attendance at each of the sessions is extremely good and the talent engaged is greatly pleasing the people.

Last night James Young, the tragedian, appeared before a magnificent audience. He delivered a defense of Shylock, saying that he was the most honest and the most sincere of all the characters in "The Merchant of Venice." He then put on his costume and acted the characters.

This morning Professor Edward Amherst Ott, of Chicago, delivered another admirable lecture. Lou J. Beauchamp alternated with Dr. Green and Professor Ott. Professor Ott's lecture was on the heredity of marriage.

Last night Dr. Thomas E. Green delivered his lecture on "Louisiana, the Epic of the West." He gave a history of the Rogers Clark and Lewis exposition to the great and unknown west and the part that Napoleon played in the purchase by the United States of this vast territory.

Dr. Green will, Saturday night, deliver his Masonic lecture, "The Templar Knight." Many hundred Masons are expected to attend. All of the railroads will give special rates on Saturday, and the Macon, Dublin and Savannah road will run a train from Macon to Dublin, leaving that city at 7 o'clock Saturday morning and returning leaving Dublin at 4 o'clock. The Masons of Dublin will entertain all of the visiting Masons while they are in the city. The members of the Knights Templar will appear in uniform. A dispensation has been secured permitting this to be done.

Will Close Saturday.

The chautauqua will close Saturday afternoon with a concert and entertainment by the Royal Hungarian orchestra, Elisworth Plumstead and Misses Marietta LaDell and Emily Frances Scott. All of the entertainers are artists. It is conceded that the orchestra is the best that has ever been brought to Dublin. The entertainers and the orchestra will also appear on the programme with Dr. Green Saturday morning.

Tomorrow is children's day. In the forenoon there will be a concert and entertainment. In the afternoon the inter-public school declamation contest will take place. There will be contestants from the schols of Sandersville, Tennille, Wrightsville, Vidalia, McRae, Eastman, Dublin and Irwinton. At night James Young will give his lecture impersonations of Hamlet, assisted by Mr. Plumstead, Misses Scott and LaDell, and the Royal Hungarian orchestra.

Fell Against Bicycle and Met with Serious Accident.

Columbus, Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—Theo. Brasch, son of Charles Brasch, is lying at his father's home dangerously wounded as the result of a very peculiar accident. While playing, he fell against a bicycle. The pedal had been taken off the crank and the sharp steel spike on which it revolved entered his breast, penetrating some distance into the lung.

Bathing Suits

For Women and Misses

Heaps of Blue Bathing Suits crested with white braids--like brave billows, foam-capped. They conjure thoughts of Tybee, Cumberland, Atlantic Beach and wherever else women go for a dip into the salty, stimulating waves of old ocean.

It's not a haphazard gathering. Taste and judgment controlled our selections of Bathing Suits just as surely as they governed our choice of Walking Suits. The materials, the models, the making are all they should be--saucy, sailory for the surging surf with a happy hint of spray and splash in fabric, form and finish.

Women's Bathing Suits made of black and navy brilliantine, full blouse, gored skirt, medium sailor collar; belt, collar and sleeves trimmed with white soutache braid $2.25

Women's Bathing Suits, made of black and navy brilliantine, extra full blouse, gored skirts, square collar, sleeves, belt and bottom of skirt trimmed with white soutache braid $2.95

Women's Bathing Suits, made of black and navy brilliantine, full blouse, gored skirt, large shawl collar, entire suit trimmed with soutache and half-inch braid $3.50

Women's Bathing Suits, made of black, navy and brown mohair, full blouse and circular skirt, broad sailor collar, elaborately trimmed with groups of soutache and inch-wide braid $4.50

Women's Bathing Suits, made of navy, black and red mohair, collarless or wide shawl, or sailor collar, white or self-colored, braided and embroidered with emblems; full blouse, flare skirt . .$5.00

Misses' and Children's Bathing Suits--2 to 16 years. Yes, we've remembered the young ones, and as we review our work we feel like blazoning the Bathing Suits. However, they'll win without much talk because they are winsome in style, stuff and price. No matter how attenuated the purse, it can command portly value here and now.

Beach Shoes--white, black and tan canvas--cork sole--buck, straps or lace. Costs only half a dollar to provide your feet with light, cool gear for sauntering over the sands.

Bathing and Swimming Caps, 25c to 50c.

When the faithful had almost given up hoping that something would happen, and the future looked bleak and sore with a defeat at the hands of the Senators, Whitey Morse and Bernie McCay flashed to the front with crashing line hits that tied and then won the game.

Score: Atlanta 2, Montgomery 1.

It was a fine finish to as pretty a pitchers' battle as was ever fought out at Piedmont Park. Young Moren and the Montgomery star, Jack Lee, were in great shape, and the sluggers of both teams were restrained from their natural tendencies.

In the very first inning the Senators, displaying all the ginger which naturally belongs to a bunch of fighting Irish players, took advantage of the wildness of Mr. Moren to make a run, which, for a long time, tied up all hope of an Atlanta victory.

Time and time again there seemed some hope of a score, but just as many times either dumb work on the bases, the foxiness of Jack Lee, or the failure of Atlanta batters prevented its making.

Twice with two out and men on bases where a hit would make a score, Archer failed to get that hit and make that score. McCay and Morse did the star batting of the afternoon, three times these sluggers of one game following each other with clean hits.

On two occasions failure to score resulted. Once Whitey Morse was on first and on the hit and the run went to third, when Bernie poked one through second base, uncovered for the moment. On the second occasion with Morse on first, Bernie singled to center, Morse remaining on second while Archer did the out.

The Finishing Touches.

The final blow-up and the end of the game came in the ninth inning with one out.

Krug, by accident, hit the ball, while trying to get out of the way. The ball rolled to Lee in the box, and Lee allowed it to continue on its roll.

Manager Jordan did the sacrifice stunt and Krug took second base. Whitey Morse, who had already singled twice, saw necessity and drove one to deep left for a double. Bernie scoring. Bernie McCay followed with a clean crack to center, which would have been good for a double if needed. A single was sufficient, Morse scampered over the plate, and the entire Atlanta team took a quick run from the field.

Whitey is Improving.

Whitey Morse looked good yesterday, every bit as good as he did in his palmiest days of last season, when his hitting was the feature of every game. His batting might, of course, be the freak of a day, but as Whitey has been getting a hit every game of late, it looks more like the return to form.

Let Whitey continue working out as he is at present and amassing the hits, and no South Atlantic Leaguer will be good enough for the Southerner. Some time ago the Atlanta club wired Macon asking for terms for Sentell. No answer was returned. Let Whitey keep up his work and no Sentell will be needed.

Jack Lee worked out a splendid game, his neat work catching both Crozier and Jordan off first base and getting them in a chase between the bags, resulting in outs.

John McMakin is scheduled to work out for Montgomery this afternoon.

JOHN M'MAKIN OPPOSES SMITH

Tom O'Brien Talks of His Team---Montgomery Made Atlanta Offer for Morse.

A royal slab duel is promised this afternoon when John McMakin, formerly of Atlanta, now wearing a Montgomery uniform, faces his old club with Charles Smith opposig him in the box.

"He will make monkeys out of the Atlanta team," said Dominick Mullaney last night. The Montgomery first baseman seems to have fatih in Mac'c ability to do things to Atlanta.

Jordan stated that Smith would be his choice for this afternoon, and that his men were going after a second victory. Jordan is particularly pleased with the hitting of Whitey Morse in yesterday's game and believes that the cotton topped shortstop has at last recovered his batting eye.

O'Brien Talks of Team.

Tom O'Brien is looking far more cheerful these days than he did on the first trip he made to Atlanta, when his team was down in the race.

"I have a good team," is the way Tom puts it, "and with an even break from the umpires I believe that we can win our share of the games at home or on the road.

"We lost to Atlanta today, but I do not believe that we had a fair deal, as Lawler was certainly safe at third base when the double steal was worked. We would have won the game in that inning. Lawler would have scored on the passed ball, and the man on second advanced to third, coming in a moment later on the slow ball to the infield. We were handed just about the same kind of a deal when playing Shreveport and are naturally a little sore to get the same thing twice.

"Whenever my team gets to hitting, we are sure to win. When neither team is hitting the ball very much then our chances are not so good.

"We have a good road team, one of the best in the league. We can do better on the road than at home, I believe.

"By the way, a number of people seem to think that the Montgomery team is made up of Irishmen alone. Just so long as they play the game I am not caring about the nationality. Lawler, Dominick Mullaney, Pat Millerick and Lynch are the only Irishmen on the team, while Busch, Brouthers, Stultz and Starkell are Dutch.

"A statement was made some time ago to the effect that Gardner had been released. That was a mistake. He practiced in the outfield this afternoon before the game.

"Some time ago I saw that Morse was not playing on the Atlanta team and thought that there was something the matter with him. I wired the Atlanta club asking for their terms for Whitey, as I was in need of a shortstop, and believed Whitey to be a good man for the position. I never received any answer to my wire."

Club Holds Meeting.

A business meeting of the Atlanta baseball club was held last night. The members of the team, the directors, and Business Manager Broyles were present.

A heart to heart talk was held about the baseball situation. The directors are anxious to get the club into the winning column, and want to do everything possible to encourage the men.

NASHVILLE CLUB HAS BEEN SOLD

Abner Powell Purchases Large Block of Nashville Stock.

Nashville, June 22.—(Special.)—It is stated on good authority that the Nashville club has changed owners, and that a large block of the stock of the club has been purchased by Newt Fisher's old friend, Abner Powell, last year owner of the Atlanta club.

Abner has been in Nashville for several days, looking over the situation, and after a careful investigation, became convinced that there was money in sight in Nashville baseball, provided that a good team be given that city.

There has been a quiet movement on for some time to purchase the club, on the part of local parties, who are becoming tired of continued defeat and wished to see a stronger team representing Nashville.

Last year Abner Powell owned the Atlanta baseball club, selling out at the beginning of this year for $18,000. It is estimated that Abner made as much as $40,000 in baseball in the two years he was owner of the Atlanta club. Give Nashville a good team and the chances are that the investment will become a paying one in the near future.

UMPIRE BASSETT RESIGNS.

Judge Kavanaugh, President of the Southern League, Appoints Red Ehret to Vacant Position.

Little Rock, Ark., June 22.—(Special.)—It was announced today by President Kavanaugh that Umpire Frank Bassett has resigned, and that Red Ehret, the veteran pitcher, has been appointed his successor.

Bassett has been roasted from one end of the circuit to the other, and to many managers his resignation will be considered a blessing.

Bassett gives as his reason for resigning the ill health of his wife, whom he will take to California at once. Bassett has been working lately at Little Rock.

Ehret has been ordered to Shreveport, while Black has been notified to report to Little Rock.

Ehret was one of Manager Whistler's pennant winners last season. This year Red was all in, was released by Memphis to Nashville and then released by the latter club. Red signed up with the Cotton States League as an umpire, and resigned again.

SURF PRIZE IS WON BY INQUISITOR

Race Run in Storm of Thunder and Lightning.

Woodsaw, Quoted at 6 to 1, Won the Sheepshead Bay Handicap, the Favorite, Dollie Spanker, Being Second by Five Lengths.

New York, June 22.—While the horses were at the post in the Surf stakes, for two year olds, at Sheepshead Bay today, a terrific thunder and lightning storm broke over the track. The occupants of the stand and the betting ring were drenched. The rain came down in terrific torrents, and it was impossible to see the field until they were well into the stretch. Inquisitor was an easy winner. No time was taken. The Sheepshead Bay handicap, one mile, was run over a track that was covered with water, and Woodsaw, a 6 to 1 chance, was an easy winner by five lengths. The favorite, Dolly Spanker, was second and Jacquin was third.

RACES ARE CALLED OFF AGAIN

Another Attempt to Carry Out the Program Will be Made tonight if Weather Is Good.

For the third time the rain hoodoo broke up the races planned by Jack Prince, necessitating a postponement.

The races will be run tonight, beginning at 8:30 o'clock, if the weather is suitable for racing. If not, Jack Prince says that the races will be held the very first night the weather will permit.

A large crowd was present at the track last night, as the race was advertised all day till late in the afternoon. The riders decided, however, that the track was not in condition for a big race, and so everybody was informed that the races had been called off.

Bobby Walthour is especially anxious to get these three races pulled off within the next few days, as his time in Atlanta is limited. He is scheduled for three races, July 1, 3 and 4 in Boston, after which he will immediately leave for Europe.

AMERICAN TEAM PLAYING WELL

American Tennis Cracks Are Showing Up Splendidly.

London, June 22.—The American International Lawn Tennis team is playing grand tennis at the Queen's Club, easily defeating all comers.

The form the Americans are showing preceding the all-England championship, international matches and the other events in which they are entered, is already causing nervousness among the English, continental and colonial cracks.

The games in which the Americans are playing at the Queen's Club are attracting much attention, almost entirely drawing off the galleries from other matches. Favored with perfect tennis weather, the Queen's Club has been well patronized by fashionable audiences since the opening, notwithstanding the counter attraction of Ascot week.

The service and net play of the Americans seem to be a revelation to the English players. This has been particularly noticeable in the doubles in which Beals C. Wright and Holcombe Ward completely dazed their opponents with their inplay and brilliant cross, eliciting almost continuous applause.

SAVANNAH CLUB AFTER THE CUP

Trophy Won by Charleston Will be Contested for Again.

Savannah, Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—The Savannah Yacht Club will try on Saturday to lift the cup that was won several years ago by the Maris, representing the Carolina Yacht Club, which sailed away from the Dragon. A number of Savannah yachtsmen will go to Charleston for the races, and a special excursion train will be run.

Today the dories, the Mischief II, the Maud and the Joree left for Charleston in tow of the power boat Lottie W. They will represent the Savannah club in the contest for the cup for the dories.

Several days ago the cabin yacht Addle left for Charleston under her own sail and under command of Raymond Sullivan. She is owned by Edward Demere, who won the principal race in the recent annual regatta of the Savannah club with her. She will represent the Savannah club in the trial against the Katrinka, on which the Charlestonians base their hopes of victory and the retention of the trophy. The Maris, acknowledged faster than anything in Savannah waters, was excluded from the contest by the terms of the challenge, which was sent the Savannah club by Charleston.

GIANT HERON ATTACKS AND MAIMS TWO DOGS

A gigantic blue heron was discovered and killed by two young boys and their dog near Decatur yesterday afternoon. The heron measured 6 feet 7 inches from tip to tip and was 5 feet tall. It is said to be the largest bird of its kind ever killed in this section of the state.

The conquerors of the big fowl were Will Kasser and Charles Jones, two youngsters with the boy love of outdoor life. They brought their trophy to the city early last night and the dead bird was an object of great curiosity wherever it was seen.

The two lads, with their dogs, were on the Flat Shoals road, 3 miles east of Decatur, near Alexander's pasture, near midday. As they approached a branch crossing the road one of them "heard a noise like two men talking," as one of them expressed it, in a clump of trees just off the road.

The dogs, one of them a doughty bulldog, plunged barking into the woods and the boys followed more cautiously. When they had penetrated a little way into the wood they discovered the dogs in the act of attacking a tall slender limbed bird standing in the edge of the branch. It was not long, however, before the dogs were badly worsted by the long beak and heavy wings of their prey. They retired, bleeding and whipped. Then the boys rushed in, and a blow on the bird's neck with a bucket which had been filled with berries, settled the heron. The chance blow broke the heron's neck.

The big bird, it was discovered, had a nest in the vicinity, which fact, it is supposed, made her so ready and willing to fight the dogs. Her measurements were taken, showing her wings to be 6 feet 7 inches from tip to tip.

The two dogs were badly crippled by the fierce attack of the enraged heron, one of them quitting the combat with several bleeding holes in his back and sides.

BEE KEEPERS MEET IN JULY

Savannah Will Entertain Southern Association of Honey Makers.

Savannah, Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—Several hundred bee keepers are expected in Savannah from Georgia and neighboring states on July 5 and 6 to attend the annual convention of the Southern Bee Keepers' Association. The territory from which the members are expected extends to the Ohio on the north and the Mississippi on the west.

The bee keeping industry has progressed rapidly, it is said, and has been found profitable by those engaged in it.

State Entomologist Smith, D. J. Reynolds, of Marietta; Judson Heard, of Macon; J. J. Wilder, of Cordele, and A. I. Root, of Melina, Ohio are among the prominent visitors expected. Mr. Wilder is president of the association. Dr. J. S. Howkins, of Savannah, is an enthusiastic bee keeper, and was at the head of the movement that secured the convention for Savannah and will take the principal part in the entertainments of the visitors. The chamber of commerce will aid in this, and a trip to Tybee island will be one of the features of the good time the visitors will have.

Mr. Root is editor of a bee culture paper, and it is expected that he will deliver an illustrated lecture during the convention, using a kinetoscope to show the most approved methods of hiving a swarm of bees.

ADDITIONS MADE TO FACULTY.

Brenau Secures the Services of Several Noted Educators.

Gainesville, Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—Miss Florence M. Overton returns to Brenau. Miss Florence for five years principal of the Brenau school of Oratory, will resume her connection with the college in September. Miss Overton resigned her position here more than two months ago to accept a position in Washington City.

Another strong addition to the faculty of Brenau, for the coming year, is Dr. E. H. Murfree who assumes charge of the department of science.

Cherokee Masons To Meet.

Canton, Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—The Masons of Cherokee meet at Hickory Flat next Saturday in the observance of the anniversary of St. John the Evangelist. Dinner will be spread in the grove and the day made one of much interest and special enjoyment to the Masons, their families and invited guests. There will be several speeches, songs, etc., and a well-arranged programme carried out.

CONTEMPT CASE IS POSTPONED

Case of P. H. Orr Will be Heard First Week in September.

The contempt case against P. H. Orr, loan manager of the People's Home Purchasing Company, was called in the superior court before Judge Pendleton yesterday afternoon and postponed until the second week in September, because the defendant asked for a trial by jury under the state code.

It is charged that Mr. Orr exhibited $1,000 on June 16, the day before a receiver was appointed, and said the money belonged to the company he represented. Mr. Orr admits he exhibited the money, but says it belonged to a church of which he was the secretary and treasurer.

Among those who were to have testified in the case was Joh S. Mabry, the former local manager of the company, and he stated that he was ready and willing to tell all he knew about the company and its business.

"I represented the company in Atlanta only a short while," said Mr. Mabry, "and I made no representations to contractors unless I received them from the company."

Mr. Orr was required to give a bond of $1,000, which he readily made.

THEATERS.

The Casino.

The interest in the Delamater Musical Comedy Company has wonderfully increased since the introduction of the players Monday night. Last night the theater was comfortably filled, and a more appreciative gathering never assembled in a house of amusement.

The musical comedy, "Mlle. Hawkins," affords several of the principals rare opportunity for excellent work, and in this there has not been the slightest disappointment. Amy Lee, as the principal comedienne, is quite acceptable, while no one will hear the laughter and applause that is sure to follow the efforts of Johnny Kearney, and the cute and cunning dances of Caroline Huestes, and not recognize in this duo real favorites.

The company will appear as usual tonight, and at matinee and night on Saturday, and will then go south for three weeks, returning here with a new bill of mirth and music.

Billy Single Clifford will be the attraction for the Ponce de Leon Casino next week, and the announcement has interested theatergoers.

The popular comedian will be supported by the same excellent company that was with him on his last visit here, but the bill will be all comedy and music, with no melodrama at all.

OUGHT TO BE ROTTEN-EGGED

Says Elliott Concerning College Athlete Who Sells Team's Signals.

Asheville, N. C., June 22.—The Southern College Students Y. M. C. A. conference here this evening discussed clean athletics. A. J. Elliott, of Brooklyn, a former football and baseball player of Northwestern university, declared that the only remedy for evils in collegiate athletics is for men of high moral tone to compete for places on the teams. Speaking of distinct evils, Mr. Elliott said that the man who sold his team signals, an instance of which was mentioned, ought to be rotten-egged out of college.

The largest representation in the conference are those from Tennessee, North Carolina, Virginia and Kentucky.

CHOICE FALLS ON FERGUSON

Winder Man Heads Funeral Directors' Association.

Savannah, Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—The Georgia Funeral Directors' Association, which opened its convention here yesterday, got down to business at today's session, which was called to order at the DeSoto hotel at 9:30 o'clock. President G. H. Brandon, of Atlanta, presided.

After an overture by the orchestra in attendance, prayer was offered by Rev. W. A. Nisbet, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian church which was followed by instrumental music by Mr. W. D. Strickland.

President L. M. Penwell, of the National Funeral Directors' Association, then delivered an address which was followed with interest. Mr. Penwell dealt upon the need of organization among the undertakers, and the benefits to the profession and the public that accrue from such organization.

W. I. Wilson, of Augusta, followed with an address on "Legislation," offering suggestions for laws touching upon the undertaking profession that he regarded it as advisable for Georgia to adopt.

Jesse Hart, of Macon, was the other speaker of the session. "Our Profession" was his subject.

At the afternoon session officers to serve the ensuing year were elected as follows:

List of Officers.

President, C. M. Ferguson, of Winder; vice president, John A. Goette, of Savannah; secretary, E. L. Armand, of Social Circle; treasurer, Jesse B. Hart, of Macon; delegates to national convention at Niagara Falls in October, H. M. Patterson, of Atlanta; G. H. Brandon, Atlanta; F. L. Wilder, Albany; Jesse B. Hart, Macon; alternates, W. I. Wilson, Augusta; T. H. Henderson, Savannah; O. L. Tolbert, Columbus; S. C. Kytle, Carrollton.

The next meeting will be in Macon.

Dr. M. X. Corbin, of this city, also made an address before the funeral directors. He talked of hygienic observances that should be followed in embalming, and besought the undertakers to discourage the practice of families kissing the dead bodies of their loved ones.

Tomorrow will be given over to amusements for the fifty visiting undertakers. At noon cars will leave for the Isle of Hope, where a fish dinner will be enjoyed. The launcheswill be boarded by the party and a trip taken to the sea. The return to the city will be followed by adieus, and the visitors will leave for their respective homes.

RAILWAY NOTES.

R. A. Dugan, assistant general manager of the Southern railway with headquarters in Washington, is in Atlanta yesterday. Mr. Dugan came here from a western trip. Immediately on his arrival Mr. Dugan hurried out to inspect the work which is under construction out toward Austell and beyond Armour station. Many railroad officials come to Atlanta to find many friends in the local cinder colony, but it is doubtful if there is a visitor who is better liked than is Mr. Dugan.

While he has one of those personalities which draws men, he possesses faculties as an engineer that make him as greatly admired professionally as he is liked personally. Democratic, he is as easy of approach by some struggling cub clerk as others more advanced. Officials who were once raw clerks have many stories to tell regarding Mr. Dugan. These stories are all different, but they are all of one kind—the kind that live only in happy memories.

As to the work on the new belt line and the new yards beyond Marietta street, Mr. Dugan expressed himself to one of his friends as being greatly pleased with the present conditions. Trains coming into Atlanta are now running over a section of the new track which cuts out a bad curve and a heavy grade on the old one. While as yet the bed is not settled sufficiently to permit of running but slowly, the double track, the facilities and many improvements in the approach to Atlanta will mean much for Atlanta's near fture. Considerable time will be saved and comforts added for the passengers.

While peaches have been going through Atlanta in five and ten-car lots for several days, the fruit business jumped to thirty-five cars Wednesday. The warm sun of the past few days has ripened the fruit very rapidly. Elbertas are now being looked for Saturday with a heavy movement next week.

C. L. Candler, local freight agent of the Southern railway, returned Wednesday from the annual convention of the Local Freight Agents' Association of America, held at Minnepapolis. Mr. Candler said that the meeting was quite the best in the history of the association and that he was particularly impressed with the tremendous interest in the south by railroad men from all parts of the country. Many of these railroad men had been through the south and many more insisted that they would be in Dixie this coming winter sure.

H. F. Adams, traveling freight agent of the Northern Pacific with headquarters in Cincinnati, was an Atlanta visitor yesterday.

CASE GOES TO NEW ORLEANS

Felder Carries Case Against Banking Company Up for Hearing.

Macon, Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—Another desperate legal battle is to be fought in the suit of T. J. Felder, of Nashville, Tenn., against the Corbin Banking Company, of New York. United States District Attorney Marion Erwin and Judge Edward Baxter appeared before Judge Speer today in a bill of exceptions, and the case goes to New Orleans for trial in the court of appeals next month.

Judge Speer gave the banking concern judgment for sixteen thousand dollars against Felder last March, after a fight of nine years. Felder was acting as agent of the banking company in this state and attempted to collect a large amount of commissions against the bank and several English mortagie companies. They entered cross claims against Felder, and the fight became a famous one.

Summer Millinery

Bargains for the June Sale rise like an exhalation from the Millinery. The salon for the display of the Trimmed Hats is like a great conservatory, forcing fresh blooms daily. That's why the stock is never weak or broken.

The graceful models, designed for Summer wear, inspire your artistic appreciation.

They appeal to you financially also.

It is the occasion for assembling and exhibiting styles, all good and true, that have an added charm when brought into bold outline by the tempting perspective of realistic economy. A feast of flowers--the gayest gathering that ever got into Queen Flora's train--in a Millinery way.

Filmy Mull Hats! There's a hint of them in every hot breath Summer sends before.

Airy folds to tangle the cooling Zephyrs in. Let the sunshine! Let the mercury simmer! In the shade of a breezy Mull Hat you can smile--and smile--and be comfortable.

Delicate Mull Hats! Bits of fluffiness. Airy nothings. Cloud wreaths touched with sunset light. A mere pinch of substance, but open to the air. A floating shadow, as it were. The most delightful of head coverings.

Atlanta has never before been so full of interest.

A popular artistic and intellectual renaissance has come upon the city. That the store has caught step and touched elbows with the movement is evident in the simple grace and large effect of the Summer Millinery. It is not over bold for us to say it. Why should we not echo what everybody utters?

The sunshine is beautiful, but the sunshine is practical. It is not only admirable but it is useful. Just so the store. You think of it as a place of recreation--but more as a place of trading--where you buy things: With all the attractions a conviction is back of the buying.

It pays to buy here.

Japanese Fans

If any one knows how to raise the wind a Jap does. He takes to a Fan almost as naturally as he takes to bias eyes or torpedo boats. There isn't a Fan wrinkle that has escaped him.

Would you see a genuine Jap Fannerie? Here it is: Paper Folding Fans, 15c to $1.50. Reposeful as a vampire's wing.

Women's Belts

There's a Belt Line in the store that touchss every woman's fancy. There are oddities in Buckles--the dewiest blossoms culled from the over-sea metal workers and jewel setters. Boys, too, cavernous but compact, all the mellowest leathers and choicest colors.

The ON ACTIVE AND EXCITED

New High Levels for the Year Were Reached.

Liverpool Was Strong on Crop Estimate of 9,500,000 Bales Issued by New York Bull Leader—Closed Steady 24 to 33 Points Higher.

New York, June 22.—The cotton market was active and excited with prices gaining $1.50 a bale, and reaching new high levels for the year. The opening was firm at an advance of 7@12 points, following much firmer cables than expected. At first there was some hesitation and considerable selling for both accounts, owing to the favorable weather and improving private crop accounts. But the market soon absorbed these offerings, and later advanced every sharply on aggressive bull support and active covering of shorts on a scale up, promoted by the continued firmness of the English market, advances in New Orleans, reports of a good trade demand, very firm spot markets and rumors that the local bull leader would issue a circular after the close, estimating the condition of the crop at 71 per cent and predicting a total yield of only 9,500,000 bales. After working up to a net gain of about 20@23 points realizing and selling for a reaction eased prices off a few points, but the slight decline brought in fresh buying orders through commission houses and a little further up fresh stop orders were reached. The market closed at practically the highest prices of the session or a net advance of 24@33 points. Sales estimated at 500,000 bales.

The Dry Goods Market.

New York, June 22.—The dry goods market is steadily tending upwards with buyers evidently becoming anxious regarding many lines on which deliveries are impossible. Buyers will be obliged to pay higher prices than were necessary a few weeks ago.

The New Orleans Market.

New Orleans, June 22.—Spot cotton dull; offerings were more liberal, but buyers are holding off. Sales 600 bales. Quotations up 1-16c.

Futures opened steady at an advance of from 10 to 13 points. The undertone was strong and the trend of prices distinctly upward. Following the first call the market showed nervousness, but this condition soon passed away. Prices advanced on free buying by commission houses. A prominent bull leader said October would not stop in its upward flight until it reached 9c. Liverpool opened 3 to 4 points down, and closed strong 7 to 8 English points up. July opened 11 points up at 8.81, sold up to 9c and finally declined to 8.98. The market closed firm with net gains of 28 to 32 points.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

COTTON—A crop estimate of 9,500,000 bales for the coming crop was published in Europe this morning, which led to a sharp advance there. This advance continued to the close in Liverpool, which was strong. A better market had been expected after yesterday's liquidation, but not such a sharp advance. Outside sellers of yesterday became buyers, carrying the market up some 20 points. Then it became known that the Southern Cotton Growers' Association would issue an estimate of 10,286,000 bales, and the market quickly advanced 10 to 12 points further. Both of these estimates are from bullish sources, and may or may not be sustained by the weather conditions hereafter. They have caused the covering of the outside sellers and given many of the bulls a market on which to realize, which seemed to be in progress for southwestern account during the day. The spot market was quiet at 20 points advance.

Ware & Leland.

COTTON—The cotton market turned up as suddenly as it broke. There was nothing to account for the sudden change of feeling save the fact that about all those who wanted to sell cotton had sold out and when the larger speculative interests bought there was no cotton for sale. This started shorts covering and the market ran up easily. Stop loss orders were reached and the market kept on going up most of the day. There was no opposition to the advance, and seeing that the prices were likely to be pushed higher, professionals were inclined to follow the lead of larger operators. However uncertain it may be ti buy cotton at these figures, as long as the larger traders are willing to hold and buy more, the smaller trader is inclined to follow rather than not. From the action of the market today there is every chance of the market working higher at the moment and we would not sell short at any stage of progress. The world's trade is too good to be selling cotton short. As far as news on the crop goes, weather seems to be made for the cotton plant. Fine rains today and crop doing well.

WHEAT—There was a little selling early on the improved weather and the arrival of new wheat in St. Louis by river that was in demand, however, at outside prices. Offerings were scanty, good buying developed on predictions of rain through the southwest with the northwest buying and July was scarce enough to frighten shorts who covered as well as they could. There was talk to the effect that the Armour house controlled the July future and a good deal of nervousness prevailed when June was bid up to $1.02½. July worked off toward the close on selling by Armour, September and December declining also, but with any further weakness developing we would favor purchases.

CORN—A feature in this market was the buying back of the July, 1906, corn sold yesterday. Selling of the old crop futures was quite pronounced early, Cudahy brokers putting out September. Offerings were well taken, but sentiment in certain quarters is inclined to be bearish, and further advances may meet with considerable resistance.

OATS—There was a little selling early, but offerings were splendidly taken, shorts covering July and enough buying orders appearing in September to carry that future well above 30c, many damage reports coming in. Operations were on a large scale, more activity developing, and we look for higher prices, while favoring purchases around present levels.

PROVISIONS—Shipments of lard and meats under last year. Prices advanced early in sympathy with grain, with fairly good buying of pork and ribs, but commission houses sold lard and sentiment on that article is growing quite bearish.

L. J. Anderson & Co.

COTTON—The bulls were bellowing loudly this morning. Liverpool was due to come 4 to 6 down, but reported unchanged to 2 off. This gave the bulls a good opportunity and the New York market opened at an advance of 8 to 10 points. Shorts immediately became badly frightened and buying orders flooded the ring, causing the pot to boil merrily for the next two hours. There is much talk going the rounds that large operators have put the market up with the expectation of getting the public to buy and give them a chance to unload, but the public seems to be wiser than of old and has not done what was expected. At this season there is much danger in following a quick rise too far. Weather conditions indicate that the crop can be expected to improve, and it is probable that operators will experience some difficulty in maintaining prices for October above 8.90. The spot situation remains firm and good buying is reported for foreign account. The weather throughout the belt shows showers in most sections.

STOCKS—London opening showed a further advance this morning, which caused a corresponding strength in our market. Good buying was stimulated and the market looked more like a market than for some days past. The general international situation has a more rosey hue and the feeling among traders is decidedly more optimistic. There was good buying of Smelters, Amalgamated, Canadian Pacific, Baltimore and Ohio, St. Paul, Union Pacific, Reading, Metropolitan and Ontario and Western, each of these stocks making nice gains. The public apparently have come to the conclusion that their recent fears were groundless and are getting back into the market. Operations have breadened considerably and the feeling generally is better.

GRAIN—Many reports of rust and rain in the harvest fields caused an active demand for wheat and a consequent strengthening of prices today. The situation in general has changed little, and the present better prices are influenced mainly by the apprehensions of snorts. Corn and oats have been quiet and strong on good demand and reports of decreasing stocks, also in sympathy with wheat.

Southern Exchange.

COTTON—Liverpool prices this morning were somewhat better than expected, and in consequence our market opened with a sharp advance. General crop conditions and unfavorable weather reports induced strength and carried quotations higher as a further development of speculation appeared. While the weather map over the eastern belt was partly clear, the rain in the New Orleans and Galveston districts was extremely heavy, though the area was confined largely to the coast. It is none the less true, however, that serious injury can easily follow this kind of weather, should it longer prevail. The forecast for tonight and tomorrow is for a continuance of showers, although lower temperatures over most of the belt. As a result of possibilities of a crop disaster speculation of a serious kind has appeared in the market, and its effects are shown in the option list today. It is, however, a little too soon to draw any conclusions as to the success of a movement of the 9c level, while, with any positive assurance of a short crop, further advances could be easily accomplished. We are inclined to the belief that immediate range of prices will not be found far in excess of recent high level.

The Liverpool Grain Market.

ADVANCES SHARP IN MANY STOCKS

Fourth Successive Day for Betterment in Price.

Movement in Hands of Organized Party of Skilled Operators Bent on Attracting a Following of Outsiders—Market Irregular Late.

New York, June 22.—The advance in prices continued in the stock exchange for the fourth successive day. The obstacle encountered in the offering to take profits increased quite materially, but they were absorbed with considerable facility. The action of the market warranted a conviction that the movement was in the hands of an organized party of skilled operators bent on attracting a following of outsiders by demonstrating the possibilities of strength in the market. The influence of yesterday's increase in the Reading dividend was obvious in the direction taken by today's speculation, the largest operations centering in the Pennsylvania group. The Reading increase is supposed to indicate the probable policy of the directors of the Baltimore and Ohio, and the benefits to result to the Pennsylvania itself from its holdings of these subsidiary stocks made it a sharer in the movement. The advance was not simultaneous at all points of the lift, but quite comprehensive gains were established by a system of rotation. An improved sentiment in the trion trade reported by the Iron Age was dwelt upon, but the United States Steel stocks themselves were late in coming into the movement ,and the preferred stock failed to share to any extent at all. The Hendricks report on the Equitable Life affair was regarded as opening up new depths to be sounded. But any unfavorable effect on stocks was overridden by the progress of the speculative campaign. The profit taking making the market irregular late in the day, but the day's gains were not substantially impaired.

COTTON.

New York, June 22, 1905.—Herewith I present the results of my usual monthly postal card inquiry into the condition of the cotton crop. 4,016 replies, of an average date of June 17, report an average condition of 71.3 as against 70.8 on the 20th of May.

This compares with an average condition of 88, as reported by the government on the 25th of June, last year, and a ten-year governmental average of 84.62. The net improvement in the crop during the past month, as indicated by my correspondents, is only one-half a point, on which basis the government report to be made up four days hence should show a condition of approximately 78. The details of the report are tabulated below. It will be noticed that a substantial improvement is shown in Texas, Arkansas and Louisiana, which states reported an alarmingly low condition last month.

On the other hand, the condition in the Atlantic states, Alabama, Oklahoma and Indian Territory, shows a substantial decline. In this connection it is well to bear in mind that the generous yield which made the large crop of 1904-05 was produced chiefly in the states other than Texas, where the crop of 3,809,000 bales gathered in 1900-01 has never been duplicated.

Totals	4,016	71.3 Avge.	70.8 Avge.	77.2 Avge.	88 Avge.	9,439,000

The indicated yield I have figured out upon the basis of conditions as reported by my correspondents and the acreage as reported by the government. The resulting crop of 9,439,000 bales is not intended as in any sense a crop estimate, although if the production per acre is the same as it was two years ago, it cannot be much exceeded. Allowing, however, for all possible disposition to underestimate the crop, or to exaggerate its predicament, it becomes more and more evident as this season advances that all hope of a large production during the coming season must be abandoned, and that the situation is fraught with the possibility of a very grave crop disaster.

With a view of ascertaining the opinion of the trade as to values in this contingency, the following question has, at my suggestion, been submitted to all the active members of the New York Cotton Exchange, the New Orleans Cotton Exchange and the Liverpool Cotton Association.

Answers have been secured from fifty active and prominent members of each body. The question follows: "ASSUMING THE COTTON TRADE BECOMES CONVINCED THAT THE CROP OF 1905-6 IS UNLIKELY TO EXCEED THE UNDER MENTIONED FIGURES, BUT WILL CLOSELY APPROXIMATE THEM, WHAT IN YOUR OPINION WOULD BE THE RESULTING MAXIMUM PRICE FOR MIDDLING COTTON IN YOUR MARKET?"

The average of the replies and the highest and lower are as follows:

$22,500 WILL buy 100x200 feet close in on Whitehall st., corner lot, that we are afraid to speak of in print. Come quick and get a bargain.

$77,000 WILL buy seven 2-story brick stores on one of the best business streets in the city, north side, and within three blocks of the Kimball house, corner lot 169x100 to an alley. Under the present lease it is rented at $402 per month, but when this lease expires it will rent for at least $500 per month. All street improvements down on both streets.

$6,750 WILL buy two brick stores close in on Marietta street. The lot faces Marietta street and runs back to the railroad. Come quick if you want this, for it won't keep.

$3,000 WILL buy a little store on Marietta street on a lot 30x100 feet that runs back to the railroad. You can buy the adjoining lot for $4,000, which would give 75 feet of street frontage by 100 feet deep to the railroad at a price of $7,000 for both pieces.

$3,200 WILL buy two new 6-room houses inside the three-quarter-mile circle, rented at $32 per month to good white tenants. Come quick if you want this.

$1,400 WILL buy a 5-room cottage near Inman Park on a lot 118x150 feet deep, rented to good white tenants at $12 per month. Room enough to build another house on the vacant lot. Good neighborhood.

WE offer a lot on Washington street, southeast corner of Little street. This lot will be sold in part or as a whole: $1,000 for the inside lots and $1,250 for the corner lot, or $4,250 for all.

FORE & WILKINSON,
4th National Bank Building,
Phone 1480.

$2,850—Seven-room house, Cherokee avenue, lot 50x200, $1,000 cash and easy payments.

$2,000—We have a cheap lot on Twelfth street near Juniper street. See us about this.

EADY-HARDIN INV. CO.
3 Edgewood Avenue. Phone 1608.

$5,250—W. Harris, cor. Williams st., 7-r. h., servant's house, stable, etc., 50 x140. Rents $37.50. Very near Pachtree, Grand opera, Candler, Piedmont, etc. Some cash, balance easy.

$600.—Highland avenue, near St. Charles, 51 by 172, faces Atkins park and car line; paved street, oak grove, east front, elevated.

$1,150—Ponce de Leon ave., 65 by about 170; paved street, car line, elevated, oak trees. Deeper corner lot adjoining, for $1,300. No city taxes.

$2,150—Fort street, near Auburn ave., 3 good houses; rents $276. Fine investment, close in.

A. J. WEST & CO.
Century Building. 'Phone 1754.

FOR RENT—Hayward residence, corner Juniper and Seventh streets, 10-room, 2-story residence, large, shady lot; servants' and carriage house. Partly furnished.

FOR RENT—Brick store, best part of Cartersville.

E. L. MORSE,
Real Estate and Investments
1503-04 Fourth National Bank Bldg.

HERE is a tract of land containing about 1 acre, corner of Chapel and Haynes streets, two blocks from the new terminal station, that can be had for a quick sale at $5,000. This is worth your investigation.

S. KIRKWOOD, a 9-room 2-story house, nearly new, 200 feet of car line, very large lot and in prime condition, iron fence, altogether an ideal home. The price is right at $2,000 with terms to suit the purchaser.

S. KIRKWOOD, near car line—Here are two splendid 5-room brand-new cottages, 50x195 and 75x180, east front, tile hearths, mirror mantels. Price $1,750; terms $300 cash, balance $15 monthly. You might look from Maine to California and you could not beat this.

CAPITOL AVENUE—Corner lot 100x250 with a 3-foot elevation above the street, sodded and perfectly level. A down-right bargain for $1,600. The other fellow will get this unquestionable bargain unless you get a move on you.

FAITH'S CROSSING, facing the blue line to Decatur, are 2 acres that would easily sub-divide into eight or ten spacious lots. The owner has a mortgage on it and is anxious to sell. While the price is $3,000, we invite an offer. Part of purchase price can run at 6 per cent.

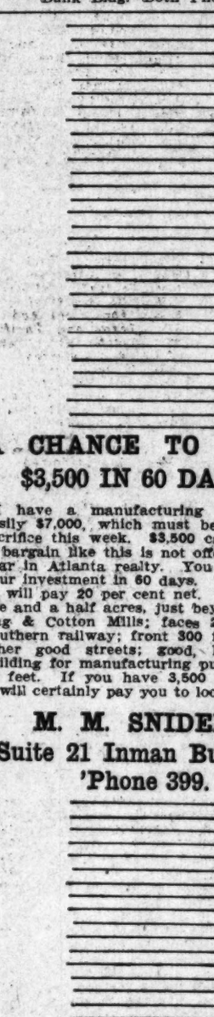
TWELFTH STREET—Here is a nice 5-room cottage on lot 50x180, not far from Peachtree and the price is $2,000; beautifully shaded.

IRWIN STREET, next door to Hilliard street, 5-room cottage, elevated lot, 38x105, rental value $150 per year. Quick sale price $1,200. This will not be advertised again. Act quickly or you will lose the bargain.

MITCHELL STREET—Just off terminal station, 111 feet front on Mitchell st., a corner, for quick sale $7,000.

NORTH SIDE, modern 8-room house, every convenience, corner lot, built and occupied continuously as a home, rental value $360 per year. This will be sold before July 1. Why don't you take advantage of this instead of the other fellow? Price $3,200.

E. L. MORSE, 1503-4 Fourth National Bank Bldg. Both Phones.



CLIFF & WILL ANSLEY,
Real Estate, 217 Century Building
Bell 'Phone 288. Stand. 676.

$2,500—For nice corner store property on paved street, that rents for $24. Old stand with established trade; in nice neighborhood and inside of mile radius. Pays over 11 1-2 per cent interest.

FOR $4,000—At Decatur we have a lovely home consisting of a 6-room house and a beautiful 8-acre lot. All kinds of fruits, grapes, etc. Running water on the place, beautiful shade and splendid neighborhood. Big bargain.

$2,800—For splendid 2-story house of 10 rooms with all conveniences. On one of the very best streets, south side. The house alone would cost $4,000 to duplicate, and it will be well for you to see us about this.

$2,500—For nice 8-room house on Windsor street, that will rent for $30 and pay over 14 per cent interest.

$4,350—For that lovely suburban home just beyond Inman Park, fronting Decatur electric line, and next to Judge Candler's beautiful home. Pretty 8-room house, newly painted, and in first-class condition, with all city improvements, water, gas, bath room and large, beautifully shaded lot of near an acre. Nice, large barn, plenty of fruit, and, in fact, a beautiful and ideal home, at a big bargain. Easy terms.

$2,500—For beautiful lot on Ponce de Leon avenue, that is splendidly located and a fine bargain.

ANSLEY PARK LOTS—We have several of these beautiful lots that can sell at very reasonable prices for from about $2,500 and upwards.

WHEAT MARKET WAS AN ENIGMA

Ruled Strong in Face of Numerous Bearish Advices.

July Closed 1 1-8c Higher—Corn Closed Unchanged—Oats 1 1-2 to 5-8c Higher—Provisions Closed Unchanged at 5c Higher.

Chicago, June 22.—Strength of cash wheat imparted a firm tone to the trade in future deliveries. At the close July wheat was up 1 1-8. Corn was unchanged. Oats show 1-2@5-8c gain. Provisions are unchanged to 5c higher.

The wheat market was an enigma to many traders, ruling strong in the face of numerous bearish advices. Seemingly the only reason that could be given for the strength was in cash wheat showing good gains in nearly all markets. For the spring and fall sown wheat the weather condkions today were more favorable than for several weeks, little rain having fallen since yesterday. Notwithstanding this fact the market opened firm with July a shade lower to a shade higher at 88 7-8@89c. Not much wheat was offered for sale, and with an active demand from commission houses prices quickly advanced. The upturn was more remarkable in view of the bearish reports received concerning the harvesting of the new crop, advices claiming an excellent yield with quality good. For July the highest point of the day was reached at 90 3-4c. The more distant deliveries showed a more moderate advance. During the last half hour much of the gain was lost on liberal realizing. The market closed firm with July at 90@90 1-8c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 73,900 bushels. Primary receipts were 251,000 bushels compared with 213,900 a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 180 cars, against 179 last week and 153 a year ago.

Sentimnt in the corn pit in the early session was quite bearish on prospects of a liberal movement in the near future. A prominent ion gwas an active seller, and this had considerable innuence with pit traders. Later the market became firm partly in sympathy with the strength of wheat and partly as a result of reports claiming light acceptances in the country of bids sent out by cash houses. The market closed firm with prices near the highest point. July opened 3-8c lower at 54c, sold up to 54 1-2@54 5-8c and closed at 54 3-8c. Receipts 424 cars, 118 contract grade.

Active demand from several prominent commission houses caused a strong tone in the oats market. The strength of wheat was an important factor. July opened 1-8c lower at 31 1-4c, sold up to 32c and closed at 31 7-8@32c. Receipts 123 cars.

An advance of 5c in the price of live hogs had a strengthening influence on the provision market. The value of trading was small. At the close September pork was up 2 1-2c at $12.80. Lard was unchanged at $7.42 1-2. Ribs were up 2 1-2@5c at $7.75@7.77 1-2.

Estimated Receipts for Tomorrow: Wheat, 1 car; corn, 447 cars; oats, 98 cars; hogs, 20,000 head.

A PAPER PROPOSAL.

Is the title of a clever little love story published by the Lackawanna Railroad solely on its merits as a bright piece of fiction. It is contained in a beautifully illustrated book of one hundred and twenty-eight pages, which describes some of the attractive vacation places along the lines of that road.

The book may be had by sending ten cents in stamps to T. W. Lee, General Passenger Agent, New York city.
